WOODROW WILSON MEETS W. J. BRYAN

Present and Past Party Standard Bearers Exchange Greetings.

GIVEN GREAT DEMONSTRATION

Democrats of All Factions Join in and Give Democratic Candidate a Harmonious Welcome—Governor's Speech.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5.—"Hello, Mr. Bryan, Hello Mr. Bryan,"

"Welcome, welcome, Governor."

These words and a cordial handshake brought together for the first time since the National campaign opened, the Presidential nominee of the Democratic party and the man who three times was the standard bearer of the same party.

As the Governor stepped from the end of his private car almost into the arms of Mr. Bryan, there was a din of cheers. Governor Wilson and Mr. Bryan finally made their way to a waiting automobile and to an accompaniment of the blowing of factory whistles, the tooting of automobile horns and the music of bands they rode together through crowds which lined the streets for blocks. There were cries of "Bryan and Wilson" and "Wilson and Bryan." Mr. Bryan himself returned only today from a six weeks' speaking tour through the West in the interest of the National Democratic ticket.

As the crowds pressed around the automobile, it was with difficulty that the street parade began. The crush to shake hands with Governor Wilson blocked the movement of the machine and many wanted to shake hands with Mr. Bryan, too. Governor Wilson sat at first beside Mr. Bryan, but the latter suggested that the Governor stand up in the machine throughout the parade. Mr. Bryan sat inconspicuously behind him, his face wreathed in smiles as Governor Wilson was kept busy waving his hat in acknowledgment of the cheers of the crowds.

"This is great," said the Governor, as he turned toward Mr. Bryan frequently. "Fine, fine" was Mr. Bryan's reply.

Democrats of every faction in Nebraska harmonized in the welcome to him.

Senator Hitchcock, Mayor Dahlman, of Omaha, and others, who opposed the nomination of Governor Wilson at Baltimore, took part in the general demonstration.

Governor Wilson and Mr. Bryan spoke at a banquet of the Democratic State Committee. Governor Wilson thanked Mr. Bryan publicly for the support he gave him at Baltimore, and Mr. Bryan in turn appealed to the Democracy "to do for Wilson twice as much as they ever did for Bryan."

"I want to express," said Governor Wilson, "on this, the first opportunity I have had since getting into Lincoln, the very deep pleasure it gives me to find myself beside Mr. Bryan. We are free to serve the people of the United States and in my opinion it was Mr. Bryan that set us free. I think no one can have followed the course of events in that extraordinary convention at Baltimore without sharing in that opinion."

Mr. Bryan was given an ovation when he arose to speak.

"I'm proud of the leader we have chosen," said he. "I'm glad he has shown that scholarship need not be lonely. I'm glad he illustrates—as did Jefferson—that the educated man need not be separated in sympathy from the man less educated. In his presence and in yours I want to express my deep gratitude to him for the masterly manner in which he has led our friends in this campaign."

Mr. Bryan added that election night when the Governor and Mrs. Wilson read the returns there will be a man and wife out at Fairview (Mr. Bryan's home) just as happy and rejoiced. He declared that it was the completion of a fight begun 18 years ago for Progressive principles.

Immediately after the banquet Mr. Bryan accompanied the Governor to the chief meeting of the evening at the auditorium, where an immense crowd was packed in doors as well as out. It was arranged to have the Governor address the overflow crowd also.

PEEPLES WAS STAR.

His Runs Won for W. & L. Against Western Maryland.

Lexington, Va., Oct. 5.—The kicking of a goal from the field and the quick runs of Peeples won for Washington and Lee the football game here today between that university and Western Maryland College, 30 to 13. Neither side made much headway in the first half, each scoring six. In the last half, however, the Virgina team scored 24 and allowed the Maryland aggregation a bare seven.

Manchester, Mass., Oct. 5.—The gold medal which goes to the winner of the Women's National Golf Championship was awarded today to Miss Margaret Curtis, of Boston, who defeated Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of Philadelphia, three up and two to play in the finish on the Essex county links. It was the third championship victory for Miss Curtis.

"BIG JACK" ZELIG MURDERED

Eastside Gang Leader and Important Witness In Trial of Becker, Shot And Killed [illegible]—Murderer [illegible]

Library of Congress

New York, Oct. 5.—"Big Jack" Zelig was shot and killed tonight. The Eastside gang leader and prospective witness in the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, which begins Monday, was seated in a Second avenue open trolley car when Philip Davidson, who says he is a fruit dealer, jumped on the running board and fired the fatal shot.

Davidson leaped from the car and ran away, but was caught, pistol in hand. He admitted the shooting and declared it was for revenge, the police say. According to the prisoner, Zelig had held him up at the point of a revolver late today in an Eastside hallway and robbed him of $400.

Zelig, mortally wounded, was rushed to Bellevue hospital, but before the ambulance reached there he was dead. On his body, the police say, only $2.43 was found, although a well dressed woman, whose identity was not learned, visited the Bellevue morgue and asked that $500 which she said Zelig had in his possession when shot be turned over to her. The woman was detained by the morgue authorities, they stated. The police also detained Hyman Giverth, an Eastside resident, as a material witness. Giverth says he saw the shooting.

Davidson told the police he came here from Peekskill, N. Y., five or six days ago. He had been a fruit dealer he said, but was not now in any business.

Only one shot was fired at Zelig, it taking effect back of the right ear. Davidson explained at police headquarters that after he had been robbed he went to Jersey City, bought a revolver and after making several ineffectual efforts to get his money back chased Zelig aboard the car and shot him.

District Attorney Whitman, who is to conduct the Becker trial, interested himself in the Zelig murder as soon as he was notified.

Immediately after reaching headquarters he began to interrogate the prisoner.

In Zelig's pockets several letters were found, including one signed "Whitey," dated today from the prison where "Whitey" Lewis and other prospective Becker trial witnesses are confined. "Frank, Louie and Gyp send regards to you." A postscript to the letter read: "I want you to stop worrying about us," was another clause. "We are only up here on a very shrort vacation to have a good rest and fatten us up."

Another letter was signed "Harry" and still another was from "Louie." The fourth and last letter was signed "Frank Cirofici," the real name of "Dago Frank." "I know what a true pal you are," Cirofici wrote. "Better days coming," was a postscript expression. "Be cheerful Jack, there is not a bit of worrying with the four of us."

Zelig's name came into the Rosenthal murder investigation in its early stages. According to testimony, Jack Rose is reported to have given before the grand jury "Big Jack" was the man who furnished the names of the four gunmen charged with the murder of the gambler. These men, "Gyp, The Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Lewis," and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, were all known in the underworld as members of Zelig's gang of gun fighters.

Rose said that as an emissary of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, he went to Zelig and told him that the police lieutenant wanted Rosenthal gotten out of the way. Zelig at that time was out on bail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon which two members of Becker's "strong arm" squad, Detectives White and Steinert, had preferred against him. In return for supplying the gunmen who would kill Rosenthal, Becker promised, according to Rose, to have the gun-carrying charge against Zelig dropped.

EJECTED FROM MEETING.

Suffragette is Thrown Out From Johnson Speaking.

New York, Oct. 5.—Maude Malone, suffragette, was ejected from a political meeting in Carnegie Hall tonight, when she interrupted a speech by Hiram W. Johnson, Progressive Vice-Presidential nominee.

"What about woman suffrage?" called out Miss Malone, rising where she was seated with a number of suffragettes.

"I will answer that question presently," Governor Johnson promised.

Miss Malone continued to stand, and from all parts of the hall came cries: "Put her out!"

"No," said Governor Johnson, "let her remain."

But the audience continued to call for the woman's ejection. Several men seized her and she was forced, struggling, to the sidewalk. A number of suffragettes left the hall. After the occurrence, Governor Johnson expressed regret, and resumed his speech.

The Governor opened his address with an optimistic forecast for the Progressive party.

"I am glad to tell you," he said, "that all over the land the fires of revolution are burning. All that remains to be done is to count the votes in November."

CALEB BRAGG WON GRAND PRIX RACE

Wealthy Cincinnati Driver Took Honors in Auto. Speed Contest.

DE PALMA SERIOUSLY HURT

His Mercedes Car Was Overturned In Brush With Bragg and His Injuries May Prove Fatal—Oldfield Fourth

Race Course, Wauwatosa, Wis., Oct. 5.—Caleb Bragg, a wealthy young Cincinnati driver, today won the Fourth International Grand Prix automobile road race with a Fiat car after a sensational last lap brush, in which Ralph De Palma's Mercedes car was overturned and De Palma seriously injured. Bragg captured the race from a field of 12 starters, which included the country's most widely known drivers of heavy cars. Only six of the 12 finished.

Bragg's speed average for the race was 69 3-10 miles per hour, as against the late David Bruce-Brown's average of 74.45 miles per hour in last year's Grand Prix event at Savannah, Ga. He covered the distance of 409 miles, 4,416 feet in five hours 59 minutes and 25 seconds.

At the hospital where De Palma and his mechanician, Tom Alley, were rushed, it was said De Palma, in addition to suffering from broken limbs, suffered a puncture of the abdomen, and is in a serious condition. Alley was said to have a broken shoulder.

Bragg drove a heady, consistent race. He was never behind third place during the long grind and was in the lead 30 laps of the 52. For the first 80 miles Teddy Tetzlaff led the field, but Bragg and De Palma were almost on top of him all the time.

With the elimination of Tetlaff by a minor accident to his Fiat car at the 244-mile post, the race became a driving duel between Bragg and De Palma. The latter led Bragg for only four laps. However, when DePalma jumped into second place, with Tetzlaff's withdrawal, he was eight minutes back of Bragg. He trailed at about that distance for more than 80 miles. Then in the last 50 miles De Palma started the terrific sprint which resulted in his car being overturned in the last five-mile stretch of the race.

De Palma was two minutes and 36 seconds behind Bragg as the two swung into the last lap. In a desperate effort to pass Bragg on the roadway near where Bruce-Brown was killed on Tuesday, De Palma shot his heavy Mercedes into the rear of Bragg's Fiat.

In the recoil from this collision De Palma's car was thrown into the ditch and wrecked. De Palma and Alley were thrown clear of the car.

Bragg, as his part of the $10,000 purse, received $5,000. Erwin Bergdoll, of Philadelphia, who drove a Benz car into second place, after a pretty fight with Gil Anderson for the last 60 miles of the race, received $2,500. His average speed was 65.6 miles per hour. Gil Anderson, who finished third with a Stutz, the only American car to remain through the race, got $1,250. His average speed was 65.53 miles per hour.

Barney Oldfield finished fourth with a Fiat at an average speed of 64.75 miles per hour.

CADETS DOWN MEDS.

V. M. I. Wins From University College of Medicine.

Lexington, Va., Oct. 5.—Militarism displayed its supremacy over medicine when the Virginia Military Institute today defeated the University College of Medicine, Richmond, in a football game here 36 to 0. The prospective doctors made only four first downs. Cadet Moore won laurels for his side with a run after a touch back from the 20-yard line for 80 yards and a touchdown.

New York, Oct. 6.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $4,141,300 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $5,357,800 from last week.

EVERYBODY!

The people are financing Governor Wilson's campaign. It is absolutely the only way to protect themselves against the power of the Trust Magnates. In New Hanover there are wanted:

ANOTHER DISASTER PLANNED

Immediately After Blowing Up Times Building Dynamiters Plotted Similar Explosion, Asserts District Attorney.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Five days after the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building, when 21 people were killed, a plot was considered by the McNamaras to cause a similar explosion on the Atlantic coast.

Charles W. Miller, United States district attorney, who is conducting the prosecution of the accused "dynamite plotters" before Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson, so asserted in delivering the government's outline of the case before the jury today. Mr. Miller said Ortie McManigal had been selected to do the job and was sent from Indianapolis to Massachusetts.

Mr. Miller said McManigal traveled about the East with explosives in a suit case, finally blowing up a railroad bridge at Worcester, Mass., on October 10th.

As showing, as he said, that the officials and executive board members of the Iron Workers Union were aware of the explosions and were appropriating money for the expense of carrying them on, Mr. Miller quoted from books which he said were taken from the union headquarters. These records, he declared, showed:

"That $11,000 was appropriated at a meeting of the executive board held in Indianapolis December 8th, 1909, and was paid out at the rate of $1,000 monthly to John J. McNamara with the specific understanding that McNamara was to use it to defray the expenses of dynamiting.

That McNamara drew on the fund regularly up to and after the Times disaster, his checks being endorsed by Frank M. Ryan president of the union; John T. Butler, Buffalo, first vice president; Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary-treasurer; Frank C. Webb, New York, and Philip A. Cooley, New Orleans, member of the executive board, all of whom are on trial.

Newspaper clippings giving accounts of the explosions, Mr. Miller said, were accepted as proof that the work had been done and upon which the regular fee for each job of $200 was paid to McManigal. In one instance in the blowing up of a contractor's work in Indianapolis, Mr. Miller said, it would be shown that Ernest G. W. Basey, a local business agent, who is also a defendant, told people the night before, "Watch the newspaper in the morning. Something is going to happen." Herbert S. Hockin, now acting secretary of the union, was referred to by Miller to the jury as "the double crosser, and a double dealer," in giving information to the government about the dynamiting plots.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN GEORGIA

Attempted Assault — Taken From Officers and Strung Up

Americus, Ga., Oct. 5.—A negro named Yarborough, who attempted to assault a 12-year-old white girl, the daughter of a prominent family here, was taken from officers late today, strung up by a rope to a bridge, near Oglethorpe, and his body riddled with bullets.

Screams of the girl brought people to her assistance. The negro ran to the Seaboard tracks and hid under a bridge. There he was captured by police and lodged in the county jail.

A crowd of citizens soon gathered about the jail. Sheriff Fuller feared that the jail would be stormed, and taking the prisoner out of a rear door, placed him in an automobile and started for Macon. Citizens observed the move and a dozen automobiles followed. The sheriff was overtaken and forced to give up the prisoner.

OUTLINES

Caleb Bragg, the wealthy Cincinnati driver, won the International Grand Prix automobile road race at the Wauwatosa race coures yesterday. Ralph De Palma was thrown from his car in a brush with Bragg and sustained serious injuries.

Woodrow Wilson met William Jennings Bryan at Lincoln, Neb., yesterday, where he delivered a speech last night. All factions of the Democratic party in Nebraska gave the Governor a harmonious welcome.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the Georgia Railroad were yesterday ordered not to operate any trains until adequate protection is furnished them.

American marines and bluejackets in a gallant assault yesterday routed the Nicaraguan rebel forces under Gen. Zeledon, but in the action four privates of the marine corps were killed.

District Attorney Miller in outlining his case yesterday against the alleged dynamiters declared the McNamaras planned five days after the Times building explosion in Los Angeles to cause a similar disaster in the East.

Actual hositilities have begun in the Balkans, serious fighting having been reported on the Montenegrin frontier. In spite of diplomatic efforts to maintain peace the powers have about given up hope of success in that direction.

"Big Jack" Zelig, the Eastside gang leader, whose name figured in the early stages of the Rosenthal murder investigation, was shot and killed in New York last night.

U. S. FORCES ROUT ZELEDON'S TROOPS

Four Marines Killed in Gallant Assault on Nicaraguan Rebels

BLUEJACKETS MOVE ON LEON

Last Stronghold Will Soon Be Taken —Shedding of American Blood Brings to Climax Dispute Over Intervention

Washington, Oct. 5.—In a gallant assault, American marines and bluejackets yesterday drove the Nicaraguan revolutionary leader, General Zeledon, and his forces from Coyotepe and Barrancas hills, near Masaya, after 37 minutes of fighting, but in the action four privates of the United States marine corps were killed and a number were wounded.

The victory of the Americans opened the way for the Nicaraguan government troops to assault the town of Masaya, which they took from the revolutionists, and the starving inhabitants were relieved.

The insurrectionists' losses were heavy, while the government forces lost 100 killed and 200 wounded. General Zeledon, the rebel, escaped, but later was cornered and killed by a troop of Federal cavalry.

One thousand American marines and bluejackets, under Lieutenant Colonel Charles G. Long, are moving on the city of Leon, the remaining rebel stronghold.

The American marines killed were: Privates Ralph Victor Bobbett, Nevado, Mo.; Charles Hays Durham, Junction City, Ky.; Clarence Henry McGill, Boston, and Harry Pollard, Medway, Mass.

Admiral Southerland, in reporting the battle to the Navy Department, said:

"The Department and the country have every reason to be proud of the officers, marines and bluejackets who were engaged in this action."

Admiral Southerland's dispatches made it plain that the defeat of the rebels was complete. Zeledon, a Nicaraguan and formerly supporter of Zelaya, fled toward the Costa Rican boundary for escape and whether he received his fatal wound in the fight at Coyotpe or from the soldiers who took him is not known.

The shedding of American blood in Central America is expected to bring to a climax in Congress the dispute over the right of this government to intervene in Nicaragua.

State Department officials are fully prepared for any adverse criticism of the use of the American naval forces. The answer probably will be given in an elaborate memorandum to be submitted to Congress by the State Department at the beginning of the next session. It will be summarized:

"An examination of the authorities appears quite clearly to show that one State may, without just cause for offense to another State, thus interpose in favor of its National residents in the other State and there is not a little authority for the proposition that such interposition by the one State as against the other is a matter of right and indeed duty."

In the list of authorities referred to, are cases where the United States has alone and with others, landed forces in times of revolution in foreign countries, to protect American interests.

No further resistance from the rebels to the execution of Admiral Southerland's programme to keep open the railroad will be tolerated. The doubt that had existed as to the location of the rebel leader Irias, the last who commands any considerable force, now that Mena and Zeledon have been disposed of, was removed today when it was learned that he was at Leon.

Senor Castrillo, the Nicaraguan minister here, called at the State Department today on instructions from his government to express the sympathy and sorrow of Nicaragua for the American losses at Masaya. A similar expression was made from General Chamorro, Nicaragua minister for foreign affairs, to American Minister Weitzel at Managua.

WALKOVER FOR TENNESSEE.

University Won From King College by Score of 101 to 0.

Knoxville, Tenn. Oct. 5.—The second largest score ever made by a University of Tennessee football team was rolled up this afternoon against King College, of Bristol, when the visitors were overwhelmed 101 to 0. The King College boys were light, inexperienced and in such poor condition that but few players who started the game were in at the finish. Not once did King hold the Volunteers on downs or make first downs.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Vanderbilt ran away with Maryville this afternoon winning 100 to 3. The feature of the game was the field goal from placement made by Badgett, of Maryville, in the last quarter from the 31-yard line. Curlin, for Vanderbilt, made a field goal from drop kick in the second period from the 30-yard line.

ACTUAL HOSTILITIES BEGIN

Serious Fighting Reported in the Balkans—Chances for Peace Are Very Slim and War Preparations Go on Apace.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—The government is informed of a serious affray on the Montenegrin frontier, amounting practically to the beginning of actual hostilities. Details have been withheld.

An engagement has taken place at Beerana, near the Montenegrin frontier, between Turks and Montenegrins. The Montenegrins were repulsed, according to dispatches received here. The Turkish government, it is understood, views this affray as practically the beginning of hostilities.

Assim Bey, ex-minister of foreign affairs, has gone to Roumania to seek the support of that State in the Balkan difficulty.

Storm is About to Break.

London, Oct. 5.—The lightnings still fail to strike from the Eastern war cloud, but British diplomats cherish little belief that the storm will be deferred for longer than a day or two. The news tonight of a collision on the Turkish-Montenegrin border, which the Turkish government considers to amount to belligerent action, indicates that it will be difficult to hold the opposing forces in restraint. Concerning this engagement, the Porte withholds details from the newspapers, but if either side is anxious to bring on a small battle it has plenty of opportunities to do so. The best Premier Asquith could say in a speech tonight was that he had not lost all hope.

Little Chance for Peace.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—In spite of the diplomatic efforts to maintain peace, the chances of success in this direction are diminished so rapidly that there is practically no hope here that war with the Balkan States will be avoided unless at the last moment the powers agree to armed intervention. The Porte is resolved not to listen to proposals of reform from any quarter or to entertain an idea of reducing its forces until the Balkan States demobilize, and abandon their present policy.

The calling out of reservists and the requisitioning of horses and carts at Constantinople are proceeding apace. Everywhere men are cheerfully responding to the call, and groups of reservists can be seen marching to their respective centers, headed by flag-bearers and bands playing patriotic airs.

Powers Plan Intervention.

Paris, Oct. 5.—A final response to France's suggestion of intervention in the Balkans was received from Great Britain today. At the same time the British government suggests that whereas intervention at Constantinople should be made by the great powers acting as a unit, the intervention at the Balkan capitals should be left to Russia and Austria.

Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter, the German foreign minister, has accepted the proposal on behalf of Germany and now only awaits a formal word of confirmation from the German Emperor. This is expected at any moment, as is also the support of the Austro-Hungarian government.

France's suggestion has thus been ratified by Russia, Germany and Great Britain. It includes a collective representation reproving the warlike attitude of the Balkan States toward Turkey, and expressing the determination not to permit territorial changes, while the powers promise to undertake themselves the realization of Macedonian reforms.

GEORGIA R. R. TIED UP.

Engineers Ordered Not to Operate Trains Until Protected.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 5.—Repeated acts of violence, in which the lives of the Georgia Railroad employes were placed in jeopardy, late today resulted in orders being issued to the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers not to operate any trains on that road until "adequate" protection is furnished. The order was issued by Fred A. Burgess, assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, after an exchange of notes with General Manager T. K. Scott, of the Georgia Railroad. Later he modified the order permitting any engineer to go out at his own risk.

The situation today became so critical that Mr. Scott telegraphed Governor Brown, urging him to instruct the sheriffs and mayors along the line to use extra diligence and see that order is maintained. The Governor replied that as there was no demand for martial law, he had no authority to take the initiative in such a matter.

The afternoon passenger trains starting from both Augusta and Atlanta, it is stated, will be taken to their destination but it is expected that no more trains will be started for the present.

Further efforts at mediation were made today by United States Labor Commissioner Charles P. Neill, but without result.

The principal trouble today developed at Union Point, where several trainmen on passenger trains were badly beaten by strike sympathizers. Freight trains started from Atlanta and Augusta were run onto sidings, switches locked and trainmen driven off. Sheriff Hixon, of Greene county, has declined, it is said, to go to Union Point and protect railroad property at the request of General Manager Scott.

"Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 4.

"To Editor Morning Star:

"I have just returned from an extended visit to the principl cities of the North and find on my return an unusual interest in the Wilson campaign. Much to my surprise I found a good many life-long Republicans who favor Wilson and the general opinion of both parties is that Wilson will be elected. I take the pleasure of enclosing my check for $10 for the Wilson fund. Very truly yours,

"JAMES G. BARENTINE."

FORCES SHIFTED

Rebel Movements In Mexico Renewed —Orozco's Men Busy

Mexico City, Oct. 5.—There has been a general shifting of the government forces during the past week. This has been due to various rebel movements which have been actively renewed. An outbreak has occurred near Vera Cruz, the rebels being headed by General Ahuilar. Rebel forces also have appeared near Torreon. There is increased activity in the District of Mexico. Orozco's followers have resumed operations in Coahuila while further operations by the rebels are reported in the States of Chihuahua and Sonora. The Indians of Oxaca refuse to consider themselves whipped, while raids continue in Michacan, Guanajuato, Zecatas and other States.

The whereabouts of General Orozco are not known to the government, but the belief is general that he may have ordered his men to make their way out of the danger zone into the south, leaving the Federals in the north.

WALLACE VS. DELL SCHOOL

Score Three to Six at Wallace Yesterday Afternoon—Features

(By Long Distance Telephone.)

Wallace, N. C., Oct. 5.—Wallace and Dell High School, of Delway, played an interesting and closely contested ball game here this afternoon the home team defeating the students by the score of 3 to 6.

The features of the game were the pitching of Gravely and the batting of C. Hussey. A good crowd attended the exhibition. The score:

Wallace 6 12 2
Dell School 3 7 4

Gravely and Turner; Cromartie and Hall. Umpire, Mr. J. H. Newbury.

EASY FOR VIRGINIA.

Despite Fumbling, Defeated Randolph Macon 45 to 0.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 5.—Despite fumbling and numerous bad plays until the final quarter, the University of Virginia was the easy victor over Randolph-Macon College in a football game here today 45 to 0. The University men braced up suddenly in the final quarter and obtained three touchdowns. However, these were not obtained without a stubborn fight, for the visitors also improved their playing.

CAROLINA WON.

Defeated Davidson in Season's Initial Contest, 13 to 0.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 5.—North Carolina and Davidson inaugurated their football season here today with a victory for Carolina, the score being 13 to 0. Davidson spent itself holding the strong line of its opponents and was feeble on the offensive tactics. Carolina played steadily for an opening contest in all points of the game, except the forward pass, which could not be negotiated successfully at any period of play, or by either team.

Bright-Jordan Nuptials

Mr. Chas. T. Bright, of this city, son of Mr. E. G. Bright, of Washington, N. C., and Miss Julia H. Jordan, daughter of Mrs. J. D. Abrams, of Wilmington, were happily united in marriage Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Justice G. W. Bornemann performing the ceremony in his usual impressive manner. The couple will make their home in this city, where they have many friends.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—The American League's championship season wound up here today when Boston shut out the home team 3 to 0. According to a pre-arranged plan, Manager Mack sent in three pitchers against Boston for three innings each. The visitors got a hit and a pass off Bender, three hits and a run off Brown and six hits and two runs off Coombs. O'Brien pitched a first-class article of ball and was backed up by sensational fielding, especially by Speaker, Lewis, Wagner and Gardner. The Bostonians put up an excellent game in every department and looked to be in far better condition to enter the world's series than they did in their first game here last Thursday.

New York, Oct. 5.—Learning that the Philadelphia Athletics had been defeated by the Boston Red Sox, thereby assuring Washington second place in the American League, Manager Griffith, of the latter team provided local fans with a farce this afternoon by sending Schaefer and Altrock, his two comedian coaches, into the box toward the end of the season's final game and also himself essaying to pitch. Against such twirling the tail-end New Yorkers managed to win 8 to 6.

A. & M. Wins First Game of Football Season From Training Ship Franklin Eleven 21 to 0— Open Line Play Used

(Special Star Telegram.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—Before about 2,500 people, A. & M. defeated the U. S. S. Franklin Training Ship Franklin today in the first football game of the season by a score of 21 to 0. The first score was made in the second quarter when Champion took a foreward pass across for a touchdown.

A. & M. scored again in the third quarter after successive gains through the line. Anthony took the ball through left tackle from the three yard line, crossing the Sailor's goal. The last touchdown was made in the fourth quarter on a difficult forward pass, Page to Osborne, who ran 15 yards for a touchdown. All three goals were kicked by Hurtt. The features of the game were the all-round playing of A. & M., with special good work by Page, Anthony and Osborne, and the forward passes made by the Sailors, they having executed seven successfully. This was the only way the Franklin team could make any appreciable gains, as the A. & M. line was practically impregnable, and nothing could slip around the ends. The Tar Heels had no trouble in making steady gains through the Sailors' line and resorted only to open line play. The line-up follows:

A. & M.	Position	Franklin
Champion	RE	Beltz

Middies' Parade a Feature.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—A beautiful and impressive feature of the visit of the sailor lads of the United States naval training ship Franklin was the march of the battallion soon after the arrival of the special train from Norfolk from the union station to Capitol Square where there was the annual ceremony of placing a floral tribute on the statue of Worth Bagley, the first and only American naval officer to give his life in the Spanish-American war. The middies made a fine showing as they passed up Martin street to Fayetteville and thence to Capitol Square, where they formed a hollow square about the statue as men stood uncovered and at attention about the statue. Flowers were placed and the band played "Nearer, My God to Thee," followed by "The Star Spangled Banner," and taps. This concluded the ceremony and the sailors marched out of the square and towards the A. & M. College to await the football game later in the afternoon.

In the meantime numerous crowds of them lined Fayetteville and other principal streets, with tin horns, flying streamers and otherwise making merry, a happy, well behaved company of middies.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL.

Boys Have Already Begun to Practice for This Season's Games.

The Wilmington High School football squad has been hard at practice under Prof. H. S. Shaw, head coach, and Mr. W. M. Shaw, assistant coach, the last few days in preparation for one of its best seasons. Of last year's squad Bob Burnett, fullback; "Diddy" Hall, quarter, and Bob Williams, half, are expected to form the nucleus of one of the fastest backfields in the State. With Capt. Charles Burnett at tackle, Bill Monroe end; Herring and Penny, guards, all of last year's team, the line will average about 140 pounds. Of the new materials, Grant, Hashagen, Johnson, A. Hall, N. Silverman, J. Monroe, Wells, Shepard, Merriman, "Ike" Silverman, Rhodes and Corbett are expected to show up well.

Manager T. W. Strange has been hard at work on the schedule and is arranging games with Raleigh, Greensboro, Goldsboro, Washington and Donaldson Military School of Fayetteville.

Schools Open Tomorrow.

The city graded schools will open tomorrow for the Fall term. The teachers of the schools held a conference at their respective school buildings yesterday and everything is in readiness for the opening. Although a new school building has been erected since the last term it is expected that all the schools will be filled to their capacity. Members of the school committees will very likely attend the opening exercises at their respective schools tomorrow.

Tom Settle to Speak Here

It has been announced that Hon. Thomas Settle, the nominee of the regular Republican party for Governor, will address the voters of New Hanover county in this city on Thursday night, October 17th. Wright SELLS LOTS

The improvement of Winoca Terrace continues and daily we are asked when the lots will be on the market. Take a walk out Fifteenth street from Princess going north. These lots are being beautified for home owners and there are a number that have asked for early information as to price and size.

When you visit another city and see the most prominent corner lots for sale, you think, is this city growing? If the answer is "Yes", then you say that lo' —" increase in value.

Today the northwest corner of Third and Market streets can be bought at the lowest price and easiest terms it will ever sell for. A year from now the new Y. M. C. A. building, just east of this corner, will be finished. The new bank building, just west of this corner, will be finished. Market street property has the brightest future of any of Wilmington's streets. It is steadily increasing in value. Very few places on this street are for sale.

The northwest corner of Market and Third we publicly and emphatically recommend as a splendid money-making investment.

Let us tell you the price and terms.

We have a nice, new home on Princess street, Carolina Heights, a thoroughly modern and beautiful dwelling that is too large for the owner's family. The price is right and the place is worth your consideration if you want a nice, new home, in a choice location.

MALARIA—BLOOD POVERTY

Malaria is a species of blood poverty known as Anaemia; the circulation becomes so weak and impure that it is unable to supply the system with sufficient nourishment and strength to preserve ordinary health. In the first stages of Malaria the complexion grows pale and sallow, the appetite is affected, the system grows bilious, and there is a general feeling of weakness. As the circulation becomes more thoroughly saturated with the malarial infection, the digestion is deranged, chills and fever come and go, skin diseases, boils, sores and ulcers break out, and the entire health becomes impaired. Malaria can only be cured by removing the germs from the blood. S. S. S. destroys every particle of malarial infection and builds up the blood to a strong nourishing condition. Then the system receives its proper amount of nutriment, sallow complexions grow ruddy and healthful, the liver and digestion are righted and every symptom of Malaria passes away. S. S. S. cures in every case because it purifies the blood. S. S. S. is a safe and pleasant remedy as well as an efficient one. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Court in Session—Republicans Active—Robeson Stirred Over Senatorial Question—Singing Class—Other Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 5.—The two weeks' special term of Superior Court which convened Monday is moving along hearing civil cases as fast as could be expected. Judge Webb, who is presiding, has made a most favorable impression on all our people. He is a man of unusually fine appearance and has a way about him to draw people to him and make friends of all who form his acquaintance.

Among those who have attended court during the week from a distance were ex-Governor W. D. Turner, Messrs. Dorman Thompson and L. C. Steele, of Statesville, and J. F. Crutchfield, of St. Matthews, S. C. It is expected that court will continue through all next week Only those who have business are attending at this time of year when the farmers have no time to spare unnecessarily.

The Republicans held another convention here this week, lasting three hours or more. We had understood that it was to be a Roosevelt wing meeting, but the thing got all mixed up and we don't know what it was. At a meeting held by the Taft people a few days previous Chairman Culbreth was supposed to have been relieved of that exalted position and Mr. Currie, of Maxton, appointed to succeed him. At the meeting held this week, Mr. Culbreth was on the job and insinuates that he expects to remain there. It is estimated that 18 or 20 Taft and Roosevelt men spent three hours all the time agreeing to disagree. There seems little doubt that President Taft will receive the smallest vote in this county.

Dr. T. A. Norment, the Republican nominee for Congress in this district, says he will wait on Congressman Godwin one week for a challenge for a joint debate, and if at the expiration of the time he does not hear from Mr. Godwin, he will proceed to challenge him.

The singing class from the Oxford Orphanage, delighted a large audience at the Opera House Thursday night. The receipts for admission and private contributions amounted to $190. This was considered good when the fact is recalled that a 10 cent tent show was packed in a tent the capacity of which is 1,200 or 1,500. The orphans are always well taken care of when they come to Lumberton, as the Masons and their friends leave nothing undone that will add comfort and pleasure to them.

The Rowland Sun says that "The Lumberton correspondent to the Wilmington Star says that Governor Kitchin told a Lumberton man that Simmons would carry this county by a thousand majority." Please read that over again, "Mr. Johnsing," and be sure we said that. See if we didn't say the county would go against the Governor by a thousand, and look good and see if we said anything about Governor Kitchin saying that Simmons would beat him by a thousand majority. What was told to us was that Governor Kitchin conceded that the county would go 1,000 against him, but nothing was said about Simmons having 1,000 majority. We understand then and still understand that the Governor meant that Simmons and Clark would poll 1,000 more, together, than he would. Our informant was Mr. T. A. McNeill, Jr., son of ex-Judge T. A. McNeill and no one who knows Tom McNeill believes he would manufacture and tell a lie like that. For our part we would believe Tom McNeill as soon as Governor Kitchin, Senator Simmons or anyone else.

A tent meeting will begin at Flowers Crossing tomorrow, conducted by Revs. J. L. Mitchell, of Alabama, and W. O. Williams, of Florida. Visitors from the North are advised to change cars at Lumberton while those coming from the South will change at Marion, S. C. We do not know where the location of Flowers' Crossing is, but judging from the places where visitors are to change cars it must be on the Raleigh & Charleston road.

Among the prominent gentlemen who were registered at the Waverly Wednesday were Rev. Walter Johnson, of Wake Forest; Rev. C. H. Durham, of Lumberton; Senator F. M. Simmons, ex-Goveernor W. D. Turner, Attorney General T. W. Bickett and Judge J. L. Webb.

Chief Justice Walter Clark will speak here Monday in the court house during the court recess for dinner. Several years ago when Judge Clark was on the Superior Court bench he made many friends in this county who will be glad to see him again.

At its regular monthly meeting Thursday night the board of town commissioners transacted a good deal of business. Town Attorney Lee was instructed to go after those who are due for street and sidewalk paving and cemetery lots. Mr. F. Lon Prevatt was elected as special officer and street foreman at a salary of $50 per month. The order which had previously been made allowing license to be granted to T. A. Shepard, of Wilmington to run a pool room, was reconsidered and the permit revoked. Our opinion is that the board fell down in reducing distance in which surface closets may be kept by property owners. That's just our opinion.

County Superintendent Pool will hold examinations for public school teachers in his office next week, beginning with the white teachers on Thursday. Colored teachers will be examined Friday and the Indian teachers on Saturday.

County Chairman S. B. McLean has called a meeting of the county executive committee to meet in the court house Monday at noon, for the purpose of appointing poll-holders for the Senatorial primary and to attend to other matters which may need attention.

Messrs. Freeman and Boon have added coal to their wood business and will in a few days be prepared to furnish high grade domestic coal at a cheaper rate than small customers have been in the habit of paying for coal. But it is a well known fact that those who have been furnishing coal to Lumberton people in small quantities did so purely as a matter of accommodation and will be glad for the new wood yard to handle the coal business entirely.

Congressman Claude Kitchin spent Monday night in town arriving in the evening via the V. & C. S. and leaving on the early Seaboard train Tuesday morning. Several of Governor Kitchin's friends called on Mr. Kitchin at the hotel and a meeting of consultation, etc., lasting until nearly 12 o'clock, was held in the hotel dining room. Those present were Mr. R. D. Caldwell, president of the Kitchin Club; Messrs. A. H. McLeod, W. P. McAllister, J. A. McDougald, Jno. D. McAllister, J. D. Proctor, G. S. McKenzie, S. McIntyre, M. W. Floyd, and County Treasurer M. G. McKenzie. Treasurer McKenzie says he has been and still is a Clark man, but was invited to attend the Kitchin caucus and did so. Everybody who knows Mr. McKenzie knows that it is his disposition to help everybody in every way he can. While he is for Judge Clark, he met with the Governor's mons was here Thursday Mr. McKenzie was wearing a Simmons button. At the depot yesterday morning we asked him for a Clark cigar and he came across promptly. When we asked him for a Kitchin match he didn't have it and a Simmons man came to the rescue. The cigar was good, but extremely mild.

Todd's ten cent show under canvass closed a week's engagement here tonight. Many people who have been attending the show regularly declare it the best of the kind they ever saw. In short, it is a first-class, clean vaudeville show, which no one need hesitate to visit. Mr. and Mrs. Todd and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie are as clever as can be found with any show.

Conductors Nast and Lang, of the A. C. L., who have been attending court here this week, left last night but will have to return next week.

Mr. Jno. Roach, who was accidentally shot through the hand Thursday morning while trying to remove a ball from a pistol, is doing as well as could be expected. While the wound is exceedingly painful, Mr. Roach is not confined at home.

Mr. R. M. Westcott, one of our old time Wilmington friends, was here this week. It was a great pleasure to meet Mr. Westcott once again. He now resides in Birmingham, Ala.

The Woman's Missionary Union, which was held in the First Baptist church Wednesday and Thursday, was well attended, there being about 100 delegates present. The meeting was a great success from every standpoint. The old officers were re-elected, to-wit: Mrs. R. D. Caldwell, president; Mrs. H. T. Pope, secretary; Mrs. I. P. Hedgepeth, Sunbeam superintendent; Miss Belle Tyner, of Lowe, associational missionary. The usual collection taken amounted to over $2,000. The next meeting will be held at Red Springs.

The exercises in connection with the presentation of an oil painting of the late Col. N. A. McLean will take place in the court house next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The portrait will be presented by Mr. R. C. Lawrence and it will be accepted by Judge Webb on the part of the court, and Mr. E. J. Britt, county attorney, on the part of the county. The portrait was painted by Miss Esther Edmonds, of Columbia, S. C. The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

Mr. Ira B. Humphrey, aged about 25 years, died in the upper part of the county Thursday night, and was buried at St. Paul's yesterday. Mr. Humphrey was for several years a resident of Lumberton and was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends. While he did not enjoy good health, being for several years almost an invalid, he was ever cheerful and lived an upright Christian life. Messrs. R. D. Caldwell & Son's hearse from here was used to convey the remains.

Jno. H. Sparks' bill posting crew arrived here last night and today covered the town with flaming circus paper announcing the coming of the show on Saturday, the 19th.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, of Wilmington, spent a few hours in town last night. This was his first visit to Lumberton in several years and he was much impressed with the many improvements made since his last visit.

In Thursday's Robesonian appeared an advertisement extending all the way across the top of the local page signed by Messrs. R. D. Caldwell, of Lumberton, N. C., and J. W. Carter, of Maxton, N. C. The advertisement offered to pay $50 to any reliable person who would prove, by affidavit, that Governor Kitchin had conceded Robeson county to Senator Simmons by 1,000 majority. We had never heard of such a thing before, but had been told by Mr. T. A. McNeill, Jr., that in conversation with the Governor several days ago, he conceded that this county would go 1,000 against him. Mr. McNeill did not say that the Governor said Simmons would have a thousand majority over him. Mr. McNeill is ready to make an affidavit as to what the Governor did say. Mr. McNeill says he told Mr. Caldwell on Wednesday what the Governor said in the presence of Mr. Jas. D. Proctor, who wrote the $50 reward offer. Mr. McNeill told several people about his conversation with the Governor and Mr. Caldwell must have heard that Mr. McNeill had made the statement or he would not have mentioned the matter to him on Wednesday. On Thursday morning the writer met Mr. Caldwell on the street with a paper in his hand, when he stated that he had $50 for the man who would make the desired affidavit. We told him that he had no further to go, that Tom McNeill was our authority for what we had said. He handed us the ad. and when we saw its contents we told him that Tom [illegible] did not say that Governor Kitchin conceded that Simmons would have a majority of 1,000 in this county, but that he said the county would be 1,000 against him. The advertisement says that the Governor says the report is false. It is written in such a way that no one can get the reward. When Mr. Caldwell carried the advertisement to the Robesonian office Mr. Sharpe looked over it and told him that seemed to be an easy $50 for a certain young man, at the same time remarking to Mr. Caldwell that he (Mr. Sharpe) supposed he knew who it was, but Mr. Sharpe says Mr. Caldwell replied that he did not know. We make this statement because what we said has been twisted out of all shape. If the Governor told Mr. McNeill that he conceded Robeson to be 1,000 against him, we believe we were safe in saying that this would be a Simmons county as no one expects Judge Clark to poll a heavy vote in Robeson. It seems to be a question of veracity between the Governor and Mr. McNeill. No one will say that a better man lives in Lumberton than Mr. Caldwell, but any man having as much business on his mind as he has is liable to get mixed up as much as anyone else. Mr. McNeill says he will have a statement in Monday's Robesonian which will settle things so far as he is concerned.

Yesterday was the day appointed for the Bull Moose to meet here and nominate a Congressional candidate and an elector. Four of the faith reported from Bladen, but no others could be found, and nothing was done, except Mr. White, from Elizabethtown, made a few remarks about Mr. Meares sending out the call and then not showing up. Mr. White had an audience of one listener.

THE SEWERAGE TOOLS

Superintendent Merritt Makes Statement With Reference Thereto

"It has been stated by both the morning and evening papers that the Wilmington Sewerage Company had turned over its tools and material to the Water and Sewerage Department of the city of Wilmington. This statement is misleading and far from being the facts in the case and as I was the only one in the city at that time who had authority to make such a transaction it is left for me to correct that statement, and I give the following facts:

"I came down one morning the latter part of last month (which was before the time set for the transfer of the plant to the city) and found that the men from the Water and Sewerage Department of the city had hauled one load of the sewerage company's tools and material to the city hall, and had the wagon again loaded, ready to leave. This was without any authority whatever. To say that I was surprised would not express my astonishment. I did not know whether to object or not, but at that time there had been no transfer of the sewerage system to the city of Wilmington.

"The next morning when I got down I was met at the back door of the office by a man in the employ of the Water and Sewerage Department of the city, who told me that he was ready for the office stuff. I told him he could not get it.

"The superintendent of the Water and Sewerage Department has several times asked me for part of the sewerage company's records and I have refused to give them to him. Any statement from any one that I gave permission or was in any way consulted about the movement of the sewerage company's tools and material from the company's tool house, and yard, is without foundation.

"W. E. Merritt,
"'Supt. Wilmington Sewerage Co.'"

Brooklyn Baptist Revival.

It is expected that the services today at Brooklyn Baptist church, where a revival has been in progress all the week will be unusually largely attended today. There was no service yesterday. Rev. J. W. Ham, who is doing the preaching, will have as his subject this morning "The White Life," and this afternon "The Devil's Auction" will be his theme. At the morning service Mrs. Ham will sing "Sometime, Somewhere", and at the evening service "Somebody's Here With an Aching Heart." The public is most cordially invited to attend both services. The morning service begins at 11 o'clock and the night service at 7:30 o'clock.

"Our Personal Guarantee to All Skin Sufferers"

—ROBT R. BELLAMY.

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising our patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's iron clad guarantee, backed by ourselves you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or tetter, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin takes away the itch, instantly. And the cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled; the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

When you see my new stove, Amy, you'll agree with me that it is far nicer than the coal grates, and so much less trouble. The style I bought is so elegant, too. It's a beautifying addition to any room.

Who put the rage in suffrage?

Most any candidate is liable to be a liar.

"Wilmington is the permanent residence of prosperity."

"We are practical men," but we are liable to get caught sometimes.

Nobody should work Wilmington, but everybody should work for Wilmington.

A man's denials are worth nothing in the face of the facts, the record and the particulars.

Why should a spontaneous movement have to be financed so as to make it look like a movement?

Don't be too overconfident, but in the meantime have your Wilson roosters ready for use on the morning after the 5th of November.

A man's past is raked up against him in politics, so he ought to start in when he is young to keep his record straight.

Republicans tell us that the protective tariff is levied for the benefit of the working men. It may be, but the captains of industry keep it for them.

The Agricultural Department has come to the conclusion that it does not know "what is beer." The department seems to have its doubts like all other people.

Tammany is behaving very nicely in consenting to be beaten at the National Democratic convention at Baltimore and at the New York State convention at Syracuse.

John L. Sullivan and Jesse James' brother Frank have picked out the same candidate for President. We are going to let everybody guess who they are for, but it's not Wilson, Taft, Debbs nor Chafin.

The Hon. Claude Kitchin is making speeches advocating the nomination of his brother, Governor Kitchin, for the United States Senate. That is nothing but right. We are glad to see brothers standing together.

Cortelyou will have to take the blame, since Treasurer Bliss of the Republican campaign committee is dead and gone. Cortelyou and Bliss seem to have done something which Roosevelt is afraid to boldly endorse. This shows how some men will use men as tools and then leave them the bag to hold.

The New York Tribune (Rep.) is raking up things against Sulzer, the Democratic nominee for Governor of the Empire State. The Tribune has discovered that Sulzer once said: "I am a firm believer in the doctrine 'to the victor belongs the spoils'." Republican victors not only believe that, but they practice what Sulzer believes in.

Despite the clamoring of political demagogues, it is shown conclusively by Federal statistics that the South is a good place for the colored man. Scattered throughout the Southern States are hundreds of negro farmers and truckers, who have not only prospered, but contributed materially to the wealth of their communities and sections. A mule or two and a small tract of land will bring far better dividends to the colored man than a political office, but many of his race have shown too strong a predilection for following a brass band rather than follow the plow. The advice to colored people to come to Northern cities is pernicious.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE MEN WHO BUILD UP A TOWN

1. Those who become interested and love their home.
2. Those who keep posted as to what is going on in their own town, and then see and know what is going on in other towns, and then talk and boast their town and not knock other towns.
3. Those who trust honest and public spirited men.
4. Those who show hospitality, and are kind to all good people.
5. Those who like to see other people prosper and make money.
6. Those who are cheerful and will encourage a stranger, when he speaks of locating in his town.
7. Those who will encourage every good and public enterprise to come in their town.
8. Those who will do what they can to build up a pure home government, and to break down and destroy vice of all kinds.

Now, Wilmington Man, which class do you belong to? I hope you belong to the class to build up; if so, you have the best city in the South, so go to work and do all the good you can.

The Man Who Will Do a Town Harm.

1. Those who oppose all improvements.
2. Those who run it down to strangers.
3. Those who never say any good thing about their town.
4. Those who distrust all public spirited men.
5. Those who show no hospitality to any one.
6. Those who hate to see others prosper and make money.
7. Those who oppose any movement that does not suit them.
8. Those who are always putting on a long face, when a stranger speaks of locating in their town.
9. Those who oppose every public enterprise that does not suit them.
10. Those who will break the laws of their town, and encourage all kinds of vice and evil.

—WILMINGTONIAN.

PANICS AND PANICS

Financial panics are woeful, distressful and ruinous conditions which have prevailed in all countries from time immemorial. More of them seem to have prevailed in this country than any other during the past fifty years, these periods being practically about every ten years. During those fifty years, with the exception of eight years, the Republican party has been in power, yet Republican spielers who run out of arguments invariably seek to frighten the people by reminding them of the the so-called "Cleveland panic" and the "soup-house" days in a distressful financial panic which originated in Europe. These disastrous panics are called "rainy days" in the sunshine of the Nation's customary prosperity, and even President Taft a few days ago sought to scare the country with the prophesy that the election of a Democratic President and Congress "would mean four more years of rainy days." Woodrow Wilson happened to be in Massachusetts when the President sounded his note of alarm, and the Democratic nominee thus returned the blow:

"The President says that if the Democratic party were placed in power there would come a series of rainy days for the country. I recall the time when he condemned that preposterous schedule under which the wool monopoly flourished, and I want to ask him if he does not think that rainy days came long ago to the poor mill hands in Lawrence, Mass. What kind of days are those that are enjoyed by some of the employes of the overshadowing steel monopoly who have to work seven days in the week, twelve hours every one of the seven, and cannot, when the 365 weary days have passed and a year is told, find their bills paid or their little families properly sustained? Are they waiting for rainy days?"

That was a sockdolager for such idle talk as the President and Republicans are wont to hand out to the unsuspecting. They do not seem to remember that even under the highest tariffs, the working men in the great industrial centeres have invariably had to strike for higher wages to make both ends meet, owing to the increased cost of living under high protective tariffs. They have to strike to get their share of protection and keep out of the soup houses. Strikes are a sign of starvation wages, but Republicans assume that nobody knows it.

Roosevelt is also busy predicting a Democratic panic. He entirely overlooks the Roosevelt panic which began in 1907. He was President then and had been in office for nearly seven years, when the worst panic in all the history of the country occured. That was five years ago and most everybody knows that during Taft's entire administration the bad effects of that panic have been felt, even up to this day. Conditions never have become altogether normal.

During that Roosevelt panic we happened to be in a great industrial center, and we saw men begging for work and could not get it. Smokestacks were silent, and statistics showed that more than 2,000,000 American working men were out of employment—the greatest number of breadwinners who were ever idle at one time. Republican alarmists don't want to remember that during the Roosevelt panic more National banks failed than in the history of the Republic. The records of the Treasury Departmentn show that, and smart Republicans can write and get the record if they will.

In 1907 Roosevelt was President but he seems to forget that during his panic every bang in the United States suspended payment for the first and only time in the history of America. During that Roosevelt panic hundreds of banks issued script because the National Treasury was powerless to aid them. Congress had to come to the relief of the banks. During the Roosevelt panic the money loss in the United States was the most enormous in the history of the Nation. The New York World sends the ball over the fence by remarking that "panics are never desirable, but if we must have panics let us have something else than a Roosevelt panic." So say we. It hit us harder than three Republican and one Democratic panics that we remember.

Governor Wilson put it on Taft right when he replied to his "rainy day" break. He showed that even Republican protection has not saved labor from its rainy days under the Taft administration, for it is a proven fact that the biggest strikes and the worst wage conditions in the United States have occurred in the most highly protected industries. President Taft is asked to explain why it is that the best wage conditions now are in industries which receive no tariff favors whatsoever.

It is time for Taft, Roosevelt and lesser lights to let up on panics. The people remember.

PROGRESS OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Roosevelt has crossed the continent by the North and returned by the South and has spoken to more audiences of voters and more voters than any Presidential candidate has ever done before. Wilson is now on an speaking tour and has gotten as far across the continent as Minnesota and Wisconsin. Large crowds have heard both Roosevelt and Wilson and sentiment must be rapidly crystalizing all over the country by this time. What will be the result?

President Taft for a long time decided to do no campaigning, but evidently he has begun to fear the contact of Roosevelt and Wilson with the people. The President is now showing a disposition to get into the campaign, and it is said he has at last awakened to the necessity of making a fight to keep from being third in the race.

The President in several speeches has attacked both Roosevelt and Wilson and has defended his own administration with something akin to desperation. Mr. Taft had hoped that Roosevelt would hang himself if he were given rope, and he has seemed to have more or less confidence that neither the Progressive party nor the Democracy would make much inroads on the Republican strength. He is at last aroused to the fact that the Republican party is disintegrating, and now his appeals are not so much in his own behalf as they are for the Republican party. In his latest speeches he has begged the people to "Save the Republican party."

A fair review of the situation as it now presents itself would be that Wilson's chances have grown brighter, Taft's prospects have considerably improved, and that Roosevelt's campaign has reached its height and is steadily if not rapidly declining. Several circumstances are strengthening Taft and weakening Roosevelt, while contributing materially to the election of Wilson. The unusually prosperous condition of the country is helping Taft, and already the Republicans have raised the old slogan, "let well enough alone." Roosevelt is losing to both Taft and Wilson, and the recent disclosures as to the Roosevelt slush fund in 1904 have given a great blow to the Bull Moose's hopes.

Republican campaigners have been inspired with new hope and vigor, and they are using the slush fund investigation with telling effect against Roosevelt. The Democrats are doing the same, and no longer will intelligent Americans shut their eyes to the 1904 campaign scandals. Those who subscribed hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Roosevelt campaign have testified to the startling facts and no more does the Bull Moose depend upon denying them and calling men liars. His only defense now is that the trusts and corporations contributed huge funds contrary to his orders and without his knowledge.

Within four weeks of the election, the disclosures are bound to have a tremendous effect unless American voters are stupefied beyond comprehension. It is logical to assume that there will be a great slump from Roosevelt, and the question is who it will help the most—Wilson or Taft? That is the question.

MILLION AND A HALF FOR DOCKS

The port of Jacksonville is in earnest about putting in municipal docks and water terminals, and so deeply concerned in this great development was the entire State that a special session of the Legislature was called to pass four Jacksonville bills, each concerning municipal developments on a large scale. The Legislature met Wednesday and adjourned Thursday, and all the bills were passed without opposition.

The most important of the Jacksonville bills was an enabling act authorizing the city to vote on the question of issuing bonds aggregating $1,500,000 for erecting and maintaining steamship docks and terminals to be under the control of the city in the interest of the public. The people of Jacksonville are enthusiastic over this development and they have the sympathy of the entire State, for it is certain that public terminals will have a material effect on the freight situation throughout Florida. The government is dredging a 30-foot channel for Jacksonville, and the city already has options on several pieces of water front for the purpose of building modern docks and terminals as rapidly as possible. The bond election will take place January 21st, and it is said there is no doubt that the bond issue will carry.

This movement was inaugurated by the Jacksonville Board of Trade and its campaign has thoroughly aroused the city and State to the importance of preparing Jacksonville for her share of Panama canal trade. The Board of Trade called in experts to talk over this terminal matter, and they had addresses from several government engineers. In an address before the board, Capt. J. R. Slattery said:

"Terminals are generally self-supporting, especially where the harbor proper is maintained by the general government; but the far-sighted policy is to keep the terminal charges as low as possible. The time to establish terminals is now, and to do it ahead of other ports, because if delayed too long, it will be too late. I believe that a great opportunity is now knocking at the gate of this city, and that the way to seize this opportunity is to establish modern terminals now, and go after the business necessary to make them pay, believing, as I do, that if you are prepared to handle the business, it will come without a shadow of a doubt."

What Captain Slattery told the Jacksonville boosters, applies equally to Wilmington. Wilmington ought to have modern public terminals, and she ought to get them as soon as Jacksonville gets hers. Every section of North Carolina ought to be interested in making Wilmington an ocean gateway. It is the State's only dependence for relieving the business of North Carolina from freight discrimination that amounts to millions of dollars a year.

CURRENT COMMENT.

With the coming of woman's emancipation it is just as well to have the value of her services fixed. A step in this direction is the suit of an Atlanta woman against a street railway company in which she fixes the worth of general housework, done by the wife in a family, at $40 per month. The amount appears reasonable and it will be interesting to note what precedent is set by the courts for this line of industry.—Savannah News.

It cost William Flinn, the Pittsburg contractor-boss, $144,000 to stand at Armageddon and battle for the Lord. But it was cheap at that. According to the wicked Penrose, Flinn once offered $1,000,000 for a United States Senatorship in Pennsylvania. That, of course, is a deliberate and unqualified falsehood, but it helps to show what the office is really worth. If Flinn can now get the Senatorship for a paltry $144,000 besides making the country 'a better place for his children,' it is a great bargain, in view of the high cost of living elsewhere. Onward, Christian soldiers!—New York World.

Senator Simmons made a speech in Maxton Thursday night, and was greeted at the depot by a brass band and big crowd. Dr. Croom, Col. McRae and Maj. McKinnon had mailed postal cards to prominent men of Maxton notifying them that they had been appointed to serve on the reception committee. One of these cards was received by Young Harker, editor of the Maxton Scottish Chief, whose heart is as good as his zeal fr Kitchin is warm. Just before the arrival of Simmons' train, the editor of The Observer, who had run down to Maxton from Laurinburg, invaded Harker's sanctum and yanked him from the obscurity of his den into the glare of the Simmons torches. When the train came in, Harker found himself hemmed in by the Simmons push and his good gray head added a benediction to the scene. Yes, sir! Young Harker served on the Simmons reception committee at Maxton, but as we do not want the wicked Simmons papers to lie on him, we take this method of forestalling them.—Charlotte Observer.

JUDGE CLARK AND ELECTION FORECASTS

Let no one be deceived by promiscuous election forecasts, usually intended by the forecasters to make the bandwagon voter get aboard his favorite candidate's barouche.

The Charlotte Observer, publishing a forecast of this kind, gave Judge Clark a ridiculously low vote. When Judge Clark was running for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court the Charlotte Observer made a similar forecast and missed it by exactly Eight-eight Thousand votes.

When Judge Clark spoke at Littleton, a gentleman asked him what his chances were. The judge replied: "If you listen to Mr. Simmons' friends, they have all the votes with only a few left to be divided with Governor Kitchin and myself. Governor Kitchin says he has almost everything in sight. I am not bragging, but the situation reminds me of what happened at Kinston a few years ago when they came near having a race riot. The white men collected on one corner and the negroes on the other. The white men fired their pistols in the air and the negroes left. Next morning, Mr. Whitfield said to his servant, 'I hear that you ran like the wind last night.' 'No Master, I did not run like the wind, but I passed them two niggers that did run like the wind.'"

Judge Clark said that he was not bragging now but at that rate of speed he would get there.

No man will throw his vote away who votes for Judge Clark.

LOST MONEY WAS RETURNED

Bag Containing $805 Left by Mr. Claude Murray in Foyer of Bank Picked Up by Friend—Held as a Lesson.

The mysterious disappearance Friday morning of a bag of money containing $805.12 from Mr. Claude Murray, the popular union ticket agent here for the Seaboard and Coast Line, was explained yesterday morning when the money was returned to Mr. Murray by Mr. V. G. Vafiadi, Royal Vice Consul for Greece in North and South Carolina, the acknowledged leader among the Greeks in the two Carolinas, and a highly esteemed citizen of Wilmington, where he has lived for a number of years.

Mr. Vafiadi saw the bag of money on a desk in the foyer of the Murchison National Bank and after observing that it apparently had no owner he watched the bag for several minutes to see if any one would call for it. He then decided to take the money home with him to be held until the owner hade his loss known, thereby "teaching the loser a lesson and incidentally showing how easy a matter it would be to commit a genuine theft," as he explained. It was not until yesterday, when reading The Morning Star, that Mr. Vafiadi found out who left the money in the bank. Scribbling off a short note to Mr. Murray in which he stated that the foyer of a busy bank is not a good place to leave a bag of money, Mr. Vafiadi brought the bag of money down town and turned it over to Mr. Murray, who was probably the happiest man in Wilmington yesterday for had not the money been recovered it would have been a personal loss to him Mr. Vafiadi gave out the following statement relative to the matter:

"I went into the Murchison Bank Friday morning about 11 o'clock. I noticed a bag of money sitting on a desk. No one seemed to be in charge of it. I went to the teller's window and endorsed a check, and talked with one or two of the bank men for about 15 minutes, and then turned to go. As I did so I noticed the bag of money still sitting on the desk. I decided to watch it, and stood there for fully five minutes. No one came, and I quietly took the money home, determined to teach some one a lesson. Possibly had I taken a second thought I would have given it to the bank teller, but I did not. This doubtless would have been wiser. I took the money to my home, and without looking into it, I placed my private seal upon it, and locked it up. I did not read The Dispatch fully Friday evening, feeling ill, but went to bed without delay, therefore I did not know until this morning to whom the money belonged, and was surprised to learn that my friend Claude Murray lost it. I saw him late in the afternoon, too. I know I placed myself in the position of being called a thief, but was determined to teach some one a lesson. I had not expected so much publicity relative to the matter, rather expecting it to be kept secret. I am glad the money did not fall into hands that might have kept it."

EXAMINATION OF CATTLE.

State Inspectors Will Finish Work in New Hanover This Week.

The State cattle inspectors who have for the past week been inspecting all the cattle of New Hanover county to ascertain the presence or absence of cattle ticks, will have completed their task by Wednesday next. This examination, as previously stated in The Star, has been preliminary to the complete eradication of cattle ticks from this county. When ticks have been discovered by the inspectors the infected cattle and places have been quarantined, that is, the cattle have been forbidden under the State to be moved from the infected places and no others allowed thereon except by permission of State inspectors.

Two infected calves were found by the inspectors at Highwood Park and these were quarantined. This action prevents holding a cattle exhibit during the present week. This action is imperative because it is considered highly unsafe for any cattle susceptible to tick fever to be exposed to an infection of ticks and necessary to prevent any other cattle from carrying young ticks from the grounds to infest new places.

The inspectors stated last night that the examinations have been conducted expeditiously by the help of the cattle owners and desire to extend their appreciation of their reception. They predict that the cattle department of next year's fair will be successful beyond expectation and congratulate the county upon the fine dairy cattle and especially upon the excellent family cows found here.

SERVICES AT ST. JAMES'.

Regular Activities Begin at the Church Today—Night Services.

The regular services and activities of St. James' Episcopal church will begin today. The rector urges every communicant to be present at the Holy Communion at the 11 o'clock service this morning. He also requests that parents make an effort to have their children at the opening service of the Sunday School at 3:45 in the afternoon, when the classes will be organized.

The night services, which have usually been begun in November, will begin this year on this, the first Sunday in October. Every effort will be made to make these night services bright, attractive and helpful. And it is hoped that there will be more than usual of an attendance of those who are not regular attendants at the church, visitors and strangers from the city or passing through. Ushers are always on hand to welcome and seat strangers, and they are assured that the church is both glad and anxious to have them at all services. The rector would be glad to know of any newcomers who are members of the Episcopal church.

HEARINGS BY U. S. ENGINEER

Several Eastern Carolina Improvements to be Undertaken by Government—Hearings by Maj. Stickle Announced.

In connection with the several projects for improvements by the National government in Eastern North Carolina, Maj. H. W. Stickle, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., for this district, has appointed several hearings that will be of interest to the general public in connection with these improvements.

Maj. Stickle gives notice that a public hearing will be held at Swansboro, N. C., at 2 P. M., October 11th, in the matter of the joint county bridge proposed to be erected over White Oak river by the counties of Carteret and Onslow. Interested parties are asked to attend.

Among other items Congress in the last Rivers and Harbors act provided for a preliminary examination of the harbor at Morehead City, with a view of extending the present project westerly to the main channel of Bogue Sound, and to widening the channel in front of the wharves so as to provide a turning basin of adequate area.

Maj. Stickle will hold a hearing in connection with this preliminary examination for the purpose of affording interested parties an opportunity of presenting their views on this improvement at the Mayor's office in Morehead City, at 2 P. M., October 12th. Persons are requested to attend and show what benefits, if any, will accrue as the result of this improvement.

Among other items in the new Rivers and Harbors bill was also one for a preliminary examination of "New River, N. C., from Jacksonville up as far as practicable." Maj. Stickle will hold a hearing in connection with this examination at the Court House in Jacksonville at 2 P. M., October 10th, when all interested parties are requested to be present or arrange for representation in giving such information as may be pertinent with reference to the proposed benefits which would result from this improvement.

STRIKE GREAT FLOW.

Thousands of Visitors Expected at Greenfield and Sunset Park.

The contractors who have been drilling the big artesian well in Sunset Park, yesterday struck a heavy flow of water at a depth of 180 feet. The last 65 feet was through a strata of solid rock, a very desirable feature in itself, which eliminates all possibility of contamination from the surface, insures an absolutely pure, cool water, impregnated with just sufficient sulphur as to be extremely healthful to users.

The well has already been capped, and tests out a flow of 47 gallons per minutes. Connections have been made with the water mains previously installed, and visitors to this delightful sub-division may now secure refreshing draughts of this pure artesian water at several different points on the property.

A storage tank of 10,000 gallons capacity will be at once erected on huge cement piers and a steel superstructure, and this tank will be kept constantly filled by an automatic gas engine which has a capacity of refilling the tank eight times each 24 hours.

The owners of Sunset Park are to be congratulated on this splendid feature of their property; but, it may be noted, that they seem to be particularly fortunate in everything they are attempting in this connection. In fact, the project seems happily destined by both Dame Nature and Dame Fortune.

The opening sale of lots will take place on the property tomorrow, and elaborate preparations have been made to take care of the crowds which will attend. Several thousand visitors are expected at the park today also. The management of Greenfield Lake have arranged for the reappearance of the Italian band this afternoon, and the lake and park will be the magnet which will undoubtedly attract large crowds Southward all this afternoon and early evening.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Several Minor Cases Were Disposed of Yesterday Morning.

Superior Court was in session only a half day yesterday, adjourning at 12 o'clock until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, there being no cases ready for trial in the afternoon. In the case of M. W. Divine & Co., against the Angola Lumber Co., an action on an accounting, taken up Friday afternoon; the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $275 with interest from November 15th, 1909. A. G. Ricaud, Esq., was given a verdict against Mrs. Helen Covington for $100, being the amount of a fee. Paxum Watters, colored, was granted a divorce from his wife, Gertrude Watters. In the case of J. A. Leighton against the Seaboard Air Line Railway, it was ordered that a record be made up and the case go up to the Supreme Court. The plaintiff, who is the captain of a steamer in port last year during a fire at the Seaboard terminals in this city, is suing for $2,000 as compensation for the services of his crew and boat in fighting the fire. It was after the reading of the depositions in the case that Judge Carter made the order as to carrying the case direct to Supreme Court without trial in the lower tribunal.

THE SENATORIAL PRIMARY.

Pollholders and Judges to be Appointed by Committee Monday.

Under the ruling of the State committee the several county Democratic executive committees will meet Monday for the purpose of appointing pollholders and judges of the Senatorial primary to be held simultaneously with the general election on November 5th. The friends or managers of each candidate are required to file with the Democratic Executive Committee a list of persons they would like to have appointed as officers of the election and it is presumed that this is a detail which will not be overlooked by the managers of the respective candidates.

FAIR WILL OPEN TOMORROW

Many Exhibits Were Placed Yesterday and Others to Come In Monday—Shows Have Begun Arriving—Racing

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the first fair held in this county in a number of years will open at Highwood Park, just east of the city, and will continue through the week. The fair has been widely advertised and plans have been in progress for several weeks to give the people a splendid exhibition. The management announces that while the fair in some respects will have the appearance of an impromptu affair yet there is every reason to believe that the attendance will be large and that the several attractive features will enthuse the people to strive for a more pretentious event next Fall.

The grounds will present a busy scene today as well as every day next week. The show people and the concession folks began arriving last night and it is likely that the tents will be pitched today. Three shows arrived on the evining train from the North from Trenton, N. J., while a special train of four cars arriving at 9:30 o'clock brought 10 or 12 shows from Winston-Salem, where they exhibited the past week at the Piedmont Fair. Arriving last evening also were three fine race horses from Baltimore. They have been racing on the Maryland circuit. Other horses will arrive today. Plans have been made for horse racing three days during the week.

A number of exhibits were received at the grounds yesterday and put in place. The management announced last night that exhibits would be received through tomorrow. There will be exhibits of swine, poultry, agricultural products, etc., fancy articles, culinary products, etc.

Col. Bennette, commander of the Corps Artillery at Fort Caswell, was here yesterday to complete arrangements with the management for the aattendance on Thusrday of 300 or 400 troops from the fort. The troops will take part in the parade to be given Thursday and will also have a sham battle on the grounds in the afternoon. Congressman H. L. Godwin also speaks on Thursday.

Wednesday will be Brunswick county day and 10 per cent of the gate receipts will be given to a fund to erect a Confederate monument in that county. Report comes that Brunswick will be well represented on the g rounds.

Wednesday and Thursday will be the big days of the fair. The grounds will also be open Wednesday and Thursday nights and the free attraction will be fireworks. In the day, there will be a number of free attractions.

Thursday night after the grounds close the officers of the Corps Artillery Corps from Fort Caswell and Congressman H. L. Godwin will be entertained at a banquet at the Elks' Temple.

The Tidewater Power Company has announced to the fair management that a ten-minute schedule to and from the grounds will be maintained throughout the week, beginning tomorrow morning.

SALES STABLES HAVE OPENED.

Kentucky Horse & Mule Co., Has Large Number of Fine Animals.

The Kentucky Horse & Mule Co., which has been doing business in Wilmington for some time, recently removing from the down town district to its new stables at 17th and Dock streets, has already held its opening auction sale and a large number of horses and mules were sold. The company will hold an auction sale every month and regular sales will be conducted daily. From 50 to 100 head of horses and mules will be kept on hand all the time. Another car load of horses and mules will arrive Tuesday of this week from Lexington, Ky., and it is stated that in the number are many especially fine animals. The company has gone into the business on a larger scale than it was ever before conducted in Wilmington and is getting much trade from this entire section. The stables are under the direct management of Mr. Frank T. Mills, who is one of the most experienced and competent judges of horse flesh in the State. Mr. Mills is general manager of the company; Mr. A. H. Jewell, of Lexington, Ky., is president, and Mr. Ward Luke, formerly of Lexington, but now of this city, is secretary and treasurer.

The Searchlight Chautauqua.

Tonight at 7:30 at the Eastern Star Hall, on Princess street, between 10th and 11th, the meetings which have been going on under the auspices of the Searchlight Chautauqua will be resumed. Elder Stewart Kime, of Los Angeles, Cal., has arrived and will deliver the opening sermon on "The Coming Catastrophe." The large canvas tent which has been used for the meetings has been removed and has gone to storage on account of the probabilities of unfavorable weather and the work had been suspended since September 16th, so far as the night meetings were concerned. However, a training class receives instructions, under competent instructors, three times each week in the Salem Hall on Red Cross, near Eighth street. Rev. Sidney Scott, the minister in charge, has announced that a more extensive campaign has been planned for the Winter months.

FIRST BUSINESS MEETING OF THE N. C. SOROSIS.

The first business meeting of North Carolina Sorosis of the new fiscal year, held in the library of the Masonic Temple Thursday afternoon, was a most interesting and enthusiastic one. Mrs. J. B. Cranmer, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Walter Williamson, who is out of the city. Plans for the coming year's work were briefly outlined by the chairmen of the various departments and arrangements for the proposed bazaar were assigned to the Ways and Means Committee for further development.

The members are looking forward to very helpful, entertaining courses of study in art, music and literature departments, and they hope to pursue a line of work through the home science, health and civic departments that will prove beneficial, not alone to Sorosis, but to the entire community in which they feel such a deep interest.

DELLA N. CLINE,
Secretary, North Carolina Sorosis.

Ex-Congressman Thomas and Congressman Faison to be Heard

No doubt a large crowd will be at Burgaw tomorrow to hear the speech of ex-Congressman Charles R. Thomas, of Newbern, who will speak at noon in behalf of the Senatorial candidacy of Senator Simmons. Mr. Thomas is a townsman of the Senator, and he is not only a forceful speaker, but is exceedingly popular in Pender and Duplin counties.

On tomorrow also Congressman John M. Faison will speak at Burgaw in behalf of Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic State ticket. Dr. Faison will speak at 1:30 P. M., and will talk to the people on the great issues included in this campaign.

..Theatrical..

The best thing the Academy of Music has ever promised in the way of a popular price dramatic attraction will be the Edyth Totten Company, which will hold the boards all this week, opening its engagement tomorrow night with a swell production of the big modern hit, "The Volunteer Parson." Adding interest to the inaugural tomorrow night, the Academy is extending the courtesy of free admission to the ladies with the first 200 30-cent tickets sold at Plummer's where the sale commenced yesterday and will continue until 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Edyth Totten organization is said to be the highest class one of its kind on the road. It is really a first-class stock company and for several years has been the favorite popular price attraction in the larger cities of the North. This is the first Southern tour of the company and it is being received with enthusiasm. It closed a big week in Winston-Salem last night, and the press of that city lavished it with praise. Among the many fine tributes was the following from the Winston Sentinel:

"Before a thoroughly delighted and appreciative audience at the Elks Auditorium last night, Miss Edyth Totten and her company of twelve accomplished people presented 'The Volunteer Parson,' a thrilling New England paly that was well adapted to an opening bill for the four days' engagement. Miss Totten won immediate favor with her audience, and each act was followed closely by those fortunate enough to be present.

"Miss Totten has never before consented to play her company at the 10, 20 and 30 cent scale being charged this week, and those who saw the play last night can well imagine why, for the company is far above the ordinary repertoire aggregation. Each member is an accomplished actor and the plays are far above the average."

Grand Theatre

By special request Mr. Leonard Chick will sing Monday at The Grand Theatre, one of the most beautiful songs ever written. It is entitled, "Mine," and the song was first introduced by Mr. William Wade Hinshaw, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Co., of New York, and it is one of Mr. Chick's masterpieces. If any patron of the Grand Theatre is a lover of good music, this one should not be missed. No better rendition could be heard even at the Metropolitan.

While the song by Mr. Chick will be a big special feature, the moveys will prove none the less interesting. "Cynthia's Agreement" is the story of an attorney who was most unfortunate in the slection of stenographers. A love story winds about the lawyer that is truly interesting and refreshing. But while this picture will be a feature, the most deeply human interesting will be "Partners," a Selig, a story of Damon and Pythias, like friendship of two Western men, and the story of how this friendship was shattered. It is written and produced by Colin Campbell and will be good.

Bijou's New Week

There is never a let up to the good things on tap at the popular Bijou. This handsome, fascinating amusement palace is always up to the very second and is always affording amusement lovers not only the very best and the very latest, but that which is costliest and most difficult to obtain. Yet the Bijou never raises its price of admission. It is always 5 cents and always will be, afternoon or night, and the same big show, with the same big trimmings, given in the afternoon as well as at night. The week that closed last night was a rouser. The present week is going to be "more rouser."

The bill tomorrow will be one of the merriest and most stirring yet presented. It will be featured by "In Peril of Their Lives," which is a dramatic of novelty and of decided newness as to theme. The scenes are laid along the California coast and the plot has to do with sturdy fishermen found in that locality. Leading the fun films is "An Amateur Iceman," which bubles over with the best in the mirth line. It tells of a young man and young woman, son and daughter of rich parents, who try to prove that they are really worth while in life without money. One becomes a maid and the other an iceman. The mix-ups that occur are most ludicrous and are presented in most unique way. Tomorrow's week-opening bill at the Bijou should not be missed.

TOURS FROM KEY WEST

Evangeline Will Make Six or Seven Trips to Panama

The Atlantic Coast Line announces that in connection with the Peninsular & Occidental Steamship Company, the new steel twin-screw steamship Evangeline, will make six or seven personally-conducted tours from Key West (in connection with its through train service to this point) to Colon, Panama Canal Zone, Kingston, Jamaica, and Havana, Cuba.

The Evangeline is modern and up-to-date in every particular, being equipped with electric lights and fans, is of 6,000 tons register and has 260 staterooms with a capacity for 700 passengers.

It is definitely announced that the Evangeline will make two trips a month from Key West during January, February and March, 1913, the most pleasant months, by far, to visit the tropics. It will stop two days at Colon, where full opportunity will be given passengers to inspect the Panama Canal, the greatest piece of engineering or other construction work known to man. Attention should be called to the fact that shortly following these excursions the canal will be flooded, after which the massive construction work cannot be seen or appreciated. On the return trip a two-day stop will be made at Kingston, where quaint and tropical work may be explored and fully enjoyed. The ship will sail thence to Havana, remaining there for one day.

Tickets will permit a stop-over at Havana and will be good on the regular every-week day sailings of the P. & O. S. S Co., from that point to Key West. The tour rate will be $110. Tickets will be good for meals and berth on ship, including the stops at Colon, Kingston and Havana.

Sailing dates, itineraries and information regarding reservations, connections, etc., may be obtained from Atlantic Coast Line representatives or by addressing T. C. WHITE, the General Passenger Agent of that line at Wilmington, N. C.

Housework Drudgery!

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and as Mrs. Briggs and others testify:

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and ulceration. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

MRS. BRIGGS.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any druggist persuade you that his unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit.

MRS. BRAZILL BRIGGS, of 529 N. Washington St., Delphos, Ohio, writes: "Having taken your 'Favorite Prescription,' for a bad case of intestinal disease and constipation with woman's ills, for which I was almost unable to do anything, I think I am safe in saying that there are no remedies in the world like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Purifying Lotion Tablets.' I am now enjoying the best of health, and thank Dr. Pierce for his wonderful medicines which have done me a world of good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

BREAK FOLLOWS AN ADVANCE

Weather Scare Caused Early Rise In Cotton But Decline Later Set In and Closing Prices Were 11 Points Lower

New York, Oct. 5.—An early advance on apprehensions of the weather over Sunday was followed by a sharp break in the cotton market today. Final tone steady, last prices 6 to 11 points net lower. The market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points and before the end of the first hour sold about 7 to 8 points net higher on a continuation of yesterday's covering movement and some fresh buying for long accounts. The market was influenced by apprehension of storms in the Western belt, followed by colder weather, the continued firmness of the English spot market and reports of a more active trade demand. The advance attracted a good deal of realizing, however, and the market late in the morning eased off sharply under this selling, Southern offering and a renewal of bear pressure. Last prices were at practically the lowest. Generally clear weather was predicted for the Eastern belt. Reviews of the dry goods market indicated continued activity, and private cables from Liverpool attributed the comparatively firm showing of the spot market there to a good trade in Manchester and a better demand from British spinners.

Spot, quiet; middling uplands, 11.25; do. gulf, 11.50; sales, none.

CAL. PETROLEUM A FEATURE

Formally Listed on the Stock Exchange After Sensational Advances on the Curb—Representative Issues Active.

New York, Oct. 5.—The feature of the early stock market was California Petroleum, which was formally listed on the exchange after a steady advance in price on the curb. The stock opened with large offerings at 66 to 72 1-2, compared with 65 3-4, its closing price in the outside market yesterday. Later it dropped several points, but appeared to be in demand. For a time the prominence of this new specialty appeared to excite apprehension among traders, and the market wavered slightly. Before the end of the first hour, however, the list made general recovery.

In the final dealings Lehigh Valley came forward, advancing two points on very heavy trading. Other representative issues became active at improved prices and the movement soon embraced various minor railway stocks and low priced industrials. The market's rebound from yesterday's late heaviness was ascribed to foreign advices which were more hopeful regarding the Balkan situation.

The bond market was dull and relatively steady. United States 2s registered, advanced 1-8c on the week. Total sales today 318,100 shares.

THE SHIPPING CLERKS.

Largely Attended and Enthusiastic Meeting—Gift Presented.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Wholesale Shipping Clerks' Association was held Friday night in the Mayor's office at the City Hall with the president, Mr. Virginus Hall, presiding. In appreciation of the long and faithful service of Mr. John W. Blomme in the work of the cause of the shipping clerks he was presented with a handsome purse by the shipping clerks and the railroad clerks at the local freight depots. For the shipping clerks the speech of presentation was made by Mr. Q. B. Satchwell, and for the railroad clerks by Mr. S. A. King. The gift was accepted in a short but happy speech by Mr. Blomme.

The President appointed a committee to prepare a form of initiation so that the work of the organization may be made more interesting for the members. It is expected that initiatory work will be put on in a short time.

Barber Dies Suddenly.

Yesterday afternoon, about 3:30 o'clock, William Yarborough, a colored barber in the shop of Julius Murray died suddenly while seated in a chair and talking to the other barbers in the place. He had been trobled with dropsy for five or six months previous and it is presumed that heart trouble caused his death. He was a splendid barber, and was 37 years old. The body was turned over to John H. Shaw, the colored undertaker.

GOV. KITCHIN AT GOLDSBORO

Candidate for Senatorial Toga Launches Bitter Tirade Against Simmons and His Record.—Was Disappointed.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 5.—Governor W. W. Kitchin spoke in the court room here today to an audience of 300, composed of ladies, Kitchin, Simmons and Clark supporters, and Bull Moose delegates, as there were 150 waiting to get the use of the room to hold their convention, which was called to order at the close of the Governor's speech. The court room was well filled, but there were seats for all, and to spare, in view of the fact that the Governor's appointment had been widely advertised for 10 days; that a large canvas sign in front of the National Bank invited all to hear him, and a drum corps paraded the streets to attract the crowd. The number that faced him must have been a disappointment. Arrangements had been made for the use of the speaker's stand on the Court House green, but when it was seen that the court room would hold the crowd comfortably, the Governor preferred to speak indoors. The speaker was introduced in a few well chosen words by Col. Jos. E. Robinson. The Governor announced early in his speech that he was going to make the strongest speech he ever had made against Senator Simmons, and for two hours, he launched a most terrific and characteristic tirade of abuse and accusations against Senator Simmons and his record, and while he claimed that he never had and did not intend to make any personal attack on the Senator, his remarks and his insinuations were very close to it, if not personal in their nature. He charged that Simmons had Lorimer to visit him at his Newbern home, and had entered into a lumber deal with Lorimer; that Simmons in his talk about the Lorimer "Jack-pot" had shown his familiarity with the game, while he declared with hands raised in holy horror that "The Governor" had never seen a jack-pot and did not know what one looked like. He charged that Simmons' statement that he would resign if he was not elected chairman of the Finance Committee was a political bluff, a game that Senator Simmons was good at, and as a matter of fact Simmons would not resign.

He charged the Greensboro News, which was launched by Republican money and was now edited by Republicans, was for Simmons, as well as all the other Republican papers of the State. He charged that Simmons was against the Red Shirts in the White Supremacy campaign, and that Cam. Morrison tried to put them down. He said that Simmons claimed to have voted with the best element of the Republican party on reciprocity, but as a fact voted with Smoot and Lorimer. He claimed that he wrote every bit of the White Supremacy platform except one paragraph, and that Simmons did not know anything about the platform until after it was made. He said that not a single North Carolina Democrat voted with Simmons on the Ship Subsidy bill. The Governor was given splendid attention from the moment he began until the end of his long speech, and was vigorously applauded by his own supporters in the audience, more often and most noticeably by N. B. Outlaw, of Goldsboro, and Mr. Ruff Howell, of Pikeville who occupied prominent seats near the speaker. A number of Bull Moosers who heard the Governor said they liked to hear Democrats cuss each other like that; it would add to their party.

TWO WEEKS' PREACHING

Successful Revivals Held at Redbug And Hallsboro—Good Teachers

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Redbug, N. C., Oct. 5.—We have been blessed by having two weeks' preaching, one at Hebron Methodist church and one at Hallsboro Baptist church. Rev. W. C. Martin, of Chadbourn, did the preaching at Hebron in a very earnest way. As a result of this meeting much good was done. Four professed faith in Christ, two of these joining Hebron church, and the other two joining the Hallsboro Baptist church. The church was greatly revived by Brother Martin's presentation of God's word. A good many church members were benefitted by attending this meeting.

The revival meeting at Hallsboro Baptist church was conducted by Rev. F. T. Wooten, of Chadbourn, who is superintendent of public instruction in this county. He is not only an efficient county superintendent, but he is a very efficient preacher. He has preached the "Old Time" religion to the people of Hallsboro this week, the kind that saved our forefathers. The people have attended these services well. As a result of this meeting 15 have already joined the church, including the two which were converted at Hebron last week, and more are expected to join before the meeting closes. Surely we are proud of Brother Wooten and Brother Martin for the good they have done.

The people of Redbug and Hallsboro were very fortunate in securing good school teachers, who are advancing the cause of education. We sincerely hope the patrons will send their boys and girls regularly.

There is a telephone line being put up on the county road from Whiteville to Redbug and Hallsboro. We understand that it will take a month to complete the line.

NINE DIE IN AUTO. WRECK.

Machine Went Over Embankment at Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Nine persons are reported to have been killed late tonight when an automobile in which they were riding went over an embankment on the edge of Fairmount Park, here.

Gov. Wilson's reception at St. Paul and Minneapolis enlisted practically the entire population of both cities and the surrounding country. The outpouring of the progressive people of that State to do honor to the only progressive candidate for President, indicates the attitude of the people toward Gov. Wilson.

THE LATE W. S. COBB

Funeral at Lumber Bridge Largely Attended—Tribute to Him

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 5.—The funeral services of the late W. S. Cobb, State Senator from Robeson county, were conducted from the residence of the deceased near Lumber Bridge, N. C., on Tuesday, October 2nd, at 11 o'clock, by his former pastor, Rev. Dr. J. M. Dunnaway, now pastor of the First Baptist church of North Wilkesboro, N. C. The interment was in the family burial ground near the Cobb home.

The large gathering of people from all sections of the county, and from Fayetteville and other places, who met to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased, attested the high esteem in which he was held by his people. The funeral services were simple but beautiful. Dr. Dunnaway read from Psalms and from Senator Cobb's favorite scripture, the 14th chapter of John. "Abide With Me" and "Shall We Gather at The River" were beautifully rendered by the choir. Dr. Dunnaway then spoke of the life and character of the deceased. A more touching and beautiful tribute has seldom been heard. He told of the intimate association and warm friendship that existed between him and Mr. Cobb so long, and several very touching incidents were related by the speaker. He declared that in all his experience he had never met a man who had higher ideals and nobler aspirations. Turning to the school children that crowded every nook and corner of the hall, and observing that there was scarcely a dry eye among them all, he asked: "Why are all these weeping children here?" And then he told how the very soul of Senator Cobb was aflame for the education of the children of the community, and of his tireless efforts to make the school at Lumber Bridge the best in the State. The funeral services were concluded at the grave.

Senator Cobb was the largest farmer in this part of the State. Few men have accomplished so much in such a short time. He started 11 years ago on a worn-out and almost worthless farm, and left an estate worth perhaps $75,000. It would be hard to estimate the loss his death will mean to the community.

MEETING FOR MEN TODAY

W. P. Stacy, Esq., Will Address Gathering at Boys' Brigade Armory

The gymnasium work at the Boys' Brigade armory is now in full swing with all classes meeting regularly and with the members showing much enthusiasm for this time of the year. The next department to be formally opened will be that of the Sunday afternoon meetings for men.

The first meeting will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock and it promises to be very largely attended because of the widespread interest which the speaker of this occasion always arouses whenever he addresses a meeting of any character and because of the singing of the Acme Male Quartette, composed of Messr. W. R. Dosher, first tenor; A. L. Dosher, second tenor; W. A. McGirt, first basso, and W. B. Muse, second basso. W. P. Stacy, Esq., will be the speaker today and this fact alone assures a full attendance of the Brigade members with whom he is very popular as a speaker and no doubt many men from all parts of the city will also attend as this will be a splendid opportunity to hear Mr. Stacy at his best for he is always this when addressing young men with whom and for whom he has a deep and intelligent sympathy. Mr. Chas. Dushan will have charge of the song service and Col. Walker Taylor will preside over the meeting. An invitation is extended to any man in the city who wishes to attend, hear this splendid speaker, enjoy the quartette singing and participate in the general singing of gospel songs.

Little Son Passes Away

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Flake will have the tenderest sympathy of a great many friends in the death of their 18-months-old son, James Hunter Flake, Jr., which occurred at the family home, No. 713 Orange street, yesterday morning. The funeral will be conducted from the home at 9 o'clock this morning by Rev. W. G. Hall, pastor of Southside Baptist church, and the interment will be at Masonboro Sound.

A REAL RUBBER PLANTATION

Gothamites See Rubber Gathered from Trees—Rubber Equals Steel—Fire Prevention Day—Automobiles for Garbage

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Oct. 5.—New Yorkers this week are viewing for the first time a big rubber plantation and rubber factories flourishing in the heart of the city, and thousands of curious persons have watched the "milking" of the trees as the process by which the juice from which the rubber is manufactured is called. The spectacle, however, is not to be a permanent industry here, but is the exhibition of the International Rubber and Allied Trades supported by more than twenty rubber-producing countries of the world.

The fact that this country uses more than one-half of the world's production of new rubber and that the value of the output of the finished products equals the value of the steel production are facts realized by very few persons. In the exhibits rubber plants brought from all over the world can be seen growing. It is shown how the milk, or latex, is extracted. This is usually done by making a small incision in the bark of the tree and the milk runs out. Then the milk is coagulated. There are several processes for this churning, and Dr. Pinto, from Brazil, will make a biscuit, as it is called, or a small flat mat of crude rubber in a few minutes. Sometimes the rubber is rolled into a ball. Sometimes it is spread out in long, flat sheets, and then there are all sorts of varieties of rubber, which vary in value from 90 cents to $1.50 a pound. The exhibits from Ceylon, Malay and the Far East show the conditions under which rubber is grown and gathered, and the natives in the picturesque costumes are seen working in the plantations. Perhaps no other feature has attracted more interested watchers than that which gives them an opportunity to see in the making the hose to be used in the city's fire department.

* * *

Next week this city is to celebrate for the first time a day officially set aside by Governor Dix to be known as Fire Prevention Day, and it is hoped that the beneficial results will be so apparent as to make its observance a national costume eventually. The purpose of the day as expressed by the Governor in his appeal to the people will be a general cleaning up and removal of all rubbish, trash and waste and a setting of their heating apparatus and chimneys in proper condition for Winter use. Though it is not generally realized the starting of the furnace is very often the cause of serious fires. Through the observance of Fire Prevention Day it is hoped to make Fall chimney-cleaning as much of a custom as is now the Spring housecleaning. The saving of lives by means of drills and adequate life saving apparatus will be demonstrated and the feature of the day will be a "constructive" fire at which 2,500 lives will be saved. For this purpose a large loft building occupied by a big cloak and suit company has been selected. All conditions will be those of a real fire except that the blaze will be lacking. The fire alarm will be sounded in the building and the 2,500 employes will go through the drill just as though their lives were really in danger. An 85-foot aerial ladder truck will respond to the alarm and a "rescue" of several women from the upper windows will be made. In view of a real fire in a similar sort of an establishment about a year ago in which hundreds of lives were lost, it is expected that this feature will attract particular attention.

* * *

New York is soon to have the most aristocratic garbage in the country, according to plans now being formulated by the Commissioner of Street Cleaning, who proposes to have it collected and transported by automobiles instead of the present-day plebian carts and plodding horses. While using automobiles for the handling of garbage would seem to be the joining of two extremes, it is already planned to install thirty-five machines for this purpose to be followed by 165 more as soon as possible, thus giving the city a force of 200 auto garbage cars. Large trucks are to be used and as they will cost about $5,000 each, the total outlay for their installation will be about $1,000,000. The points advanced in favor of the motor-driven garbage cart are many. For one thing, one motor truck will hold as much as six of the sort now drawn by Dobbin. The time saved in going to the dump and back will be about two-thirds. It is figured, too, that one motor truck can be operated at $12.55 less per day than six horse carts. In the outlying districts of the Bronx and Brooklyn the need for the swifter service is imperative. Incidentally it is believed that the changes will add to the comfort of the garbage collector, since as operators of automobiles they are likely to occupy a more important place in the mind of the public than they do as drivers of dump carts.

The protests which have long been made against what their originators designate as the frills of New York's system of public school education have apparently not been in vain, for it now seems certain that next Spring will see a novel though extremely practical course added to the public school curriculum. This will be a course known as school gardening. It is being recognized by educators as a means of teaching practical agriculture to the pupils ,a thing heretofore difficult in city schools. To be sure, the promoters acknowledge, the gardens maintained by the pupils afford the children only an elementary insight into the study of the agriculture, but in schools where the project is possible there has been a steady increase in its popularity. Persons who are interested in this topic point out that thousands of school children in this city are graduated from the elementary grades without even knowing that potatoes grow underground. They have never come in contact with the primal facts of nature, it is explained. Already tried in a very small scale, school gardening has proved so successful as to make it seem certain that it is to become a permanent and important feature of public school education not only here but in other large cities as well.

The feminine visitor to New York in search of a Winter wardrobe is likely to find more barbaric colors, and incidentally higher prices, this year than ever. One noted authority on these matters is of the opinion that New York has gone clothes mad, pointing out that never before have there been such gorgeous materials, such richness of fabric or brilliancy of colors nor such marked activity on the part of feminine shoppers. Early as it is, it seems as though every one is intent on buying her whole Winter A REAL RUBBER—TWO wardrobe right now, and, incidentally, on spending a lot of money on it. Some of the new dress fabrics are as high as $25 and $35 a yard and while they are not for the general run of shoppers, they show the tendency toward elaborateness and extravagance. New York has long been noted for the costumes which may be seen upon its streets, but the visitor from other parts arriving on Fifth Avenue this Winter is more likely than ever to feel as if he had stepped into the center of a rainbow—and a most expensive one at that.

Shortage In Coming Peanut Crop Will Cause Gradual Advance

Mr. J. S. Funchess, of Messrs. J. S. Funchess & Co., local peanut dealers, has written a short review of the past season as well as a forecast of the forthcoming one, for Thomas' Weekly, a publication devoted to the interests of the peanut trade. His letter to the Thomas Publishing Co., publishers of Thomas' Weekly, in which he predicts a shortage of approximately 25 per cent in the 1912 crop, follows:

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 5, 1912.

Thomas Publishing Co., New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen: The crop of 1911 North Carolina peanuts is about cleaned up, and we haven't anything to offer until the new crop comes in, which will be about November 1st. The 1912 crop will find a bear market. The crop will be about 75 per cent of the 1911 crop, which was a full one.

The acreage is about the same as the 1911, but the dry spell in August, while the crop was making, will cause shortage of at least 25 per cent of the 1911 crop.

The price on North Carolina peanuts gradually advanced last Fall and Winter until February, when they went to 5 cents per pound, which was the highest price reached in years. Since February there has been a steady decline in price, until recently they sold at 3 1-2 per pound.

With the present short crop in sight, we expect to see a gradual advance in prices as the planting season advances.

Yours very truly,
J. S. FUNCHESS.

FALL OF ALAMO

Southwest Texas Preparing for Spectacular Affair at San Antonio

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 5.—Something after the order of Paine's celebrated fireworks exhibition "The Fall of Pompeii" is the "Seige and Fall of the Alamo," which is to be presented in San Antonio during the week of the Harvest Jubilee, October 19-28. It is being arranged by descendants of some of the men who died in the Alamo when it was assailed by Mexican invaders in March, 1836, and, being staged here at the scene of the conflict, interest in it has been aroused throughout Texas. Not only will the original Alamo fortress be reproduced, but also the San Fernando Cathedral and other historic buildings that figured in the seige. David Crockett, Bowie, Travis, Milam and other noted men that men in defense of the Alamo will be shown in the great death struggle pictured as truly as is possible from descriptions of the battle given by General Santa Ana and others of the Mexican army that participated in the battle.

PECANS IN TEXAS

Opening of Season With The Approach of Cold Weather

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 5.—The approach of cold weather means the opening of the pecan season in Southwest Texas. So far this year there has been no frost, and frost is necessary to open the outside hills which enclose the nuts, but weather cool enough to cause the pecans to drop from the trees always follows soon after the first norther. The frost need not last long; it seldom does, only a few hours in the night time being sufficient to bring about the pecan harvest.

During the last few years the pecan industry has acquired considerable importance. Formerly little attention was given to the trees, which, growing wild, yielded nuts of inferior quality, but the demand has increased so greatly and good quality that pecan growers have budded and grafted their trees so that the nuts are larger and thin-shelled, these being in demand at all times and always bringing high prices. Pecan trees are of slow growth and pecan growers never look for any return within eight or ten years after planting the trees, but then for one hundred years and longer the income from the pecan grove is large and steady. It is a good investment for a young man having the cash to invest and the patience to wait awhile before he may look for any returns.

Some Reasons Why Women Should Help the Candidacy of Woodrow Wilson for President of United States.

(By Mrs. J. Borden Harriman.)

(Mrs. Harriman is one of the leaders in social service work in New York City. She is the daughter of a wealthy man and the wife of another; enjoys high social standing. She has devoted a great deal of her time helping less fortunate people over the rough steps of life and has thrown herself in the work of organizing The Woman's National Wilson and Marshall organization, with the same efficiency and enthusiasm which have made her a leader in social and civic life of New York City. She is a woman of high culture, broad sympathies and has a charm of manner that draws thousands to her wherever she appears. She has recently appeared before the leading women's organizations of Chicago and has attracted thousands of women to the Woman's National Wilson and Marshall organization.)

This is an extraordinary moment in public affairs in this country and not the least extraordinary feature is that the active support and influence of women who have been openly sought by the great political parties. This in itself, is an unconscious testimonial of the greatest significance to the growing power of women in political affairs. This recognition creates a unique opportunity which the women must not fail to conserve.

In this new era—dawning largely because women have demanded that as the old fields of labor closed behind them they should be permitted entrance into the new—let the women of this land not forget that there are measures for which they all should stand, irrespective of parties.

The purpose of the Woman's National Wilson and Marshall organization is to make possible a partnership, irrespective of former political affiliations, of all women in the United States who have a common interest in the election of Woodrow Wilson.

Why should women vote or Woodrow Wilson?

First, beause though a leader of progress, he is again setting up the old standard of principles for all men to follow, instead of tolerating the degeneration that has come into our political life resulting from the control of the many by the few.

Second, because he is a true pragmatist, the philosopher and poet who, always reaching out with one hand to attain an ideal, keeps the other where it may never allow him to lose touch with the sordidness and sadness of the lives of the burden bearers, and so, on this middle course, is the link between the two.

Third, because he has demonstrated in two years in New Jersey what an executive, who has the welfare of the working classes next his heart can do for them through legislation. For instance, in his administration has been passed the first law relating to women wage earners ever enacted in New Jersey. It limits their employment to sixty hours a week. Also an act providing sanitary conditions in bakeries, candy and ice cream manufactories, and all factories where goods of any kind are manufactured; a provision protecting workers against draughts, fumes, gasses and steel filings, and one compelling a half hour for meals for all factor yemployes; and an employers' liability act has been passed for the benefit of women and children during the disability or after the death of the breadwinner.

Ever so many laws for the protection of children have gone through. Their employment during school hours and at night is prohibited, and there can be no night messenger boys under twenty-one.

Special classes under the board of education have been established for children who are blind or below normal. No person controling a place of public amusement may allow the presence of a child under 18 unaccompanied by parents or guardian. An act to regulate moving picture shows has been passed, and laws for the improvement of free public schools. A committee on playgrounds has been provided for all cities and villages with power to establish recreation places. And any adult who is found encouraging juvenile delinquency, may be severely punished and a juvenile detention court and special county judge for juveniles has been appointed.

Fourth, because women, as the purchasers of nearly everything that comes into the home, they feel more keenly than almost anyone else the effect of the increasing cost of living. One of the causes of this increased cost is the tariff. The Democratic party is pledged to reduce the tariff and Woodrow Wilson, as its leader, will certainly accomplish this.

Fifth, because he is going to prove that it is not necessary that a campaign, to be successful, must be fought out in a slough of personalities and recriminations, but may be won on the uplands by a leader, standing for a cause and truly believing that cause to be far bigger than any one man.

And in the year 1912, they can if they believe in what the Democratic nominee stands for—clean government—do much by helping to create public sentiment. After all, what is public sentiment, but the crystalization of individual opinions, which like a snowball grows in magnitude as it is rolled on its way, by each enthusiastic touch.

Measures writing inconsistencies in our present industrial situation, viz.: little children stunted or bent under labor, children started often on criminal careers through misdirected play instincts owing to these instincts, having no legitimate outlet.

Unconscionably long hours for working women. Human being herded together like animals in many great cities, with a deplorable lack of breathing space; inadequate facilities for caring for the tuberculous poor.

Furthermore, women should add their influence to those who are struggling to bring politics into the open, to make it the business of all the people, for how else can the common interests be promoted?

How best may these things be brought about or at least brought nearer at this juncture?

Not by supporting Mr. Taft, because even if the were elected, there is no possibility of the election of a Republican House of Representatives, so that he would therefore be helpless to fulfill any promises that he might make.

Not by the election of Colonel Roosevelt, because it is clear that by no miracle could he have a "Bull Moose" Senate and House of Representatives behind him. It is obvious, therefore, that he, too, would be unable to carry out the pledges of his platform.

The clear logic of the situation then, is that Governor Wilson is the only candidate who in winning will have a friendly Senate and House of Representatives and so be able to fulfill his promises and carry out the policies to which he is committed.

This man has said: "The whole business of conservation lies right around you and it is just as much your business to conserve the water resources and all these things that should be as common and as useful as the air. When you have tuberculosis, contagion of any kind, when you sweep through the streets and factories, you are interested in the deepest conservation of all conservations that start with the health of men."

Let the inuence of the women be used to try to keep all bitterness and backbitting out of political campaigns, remembering that differences of opinion are only superficial after all. It is the fundamental desire for right and justice that counts.

Saves Leg of Boy

"It seemed that my 14-year-old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

The Original French Blend

FRENCH Market Coffee is the identical old French blend, brought to New Orleans by immigrants from Paris over a hundred years ago. Tourists and travelers know it. They rarely fail to visit the old French Market, when in New Orleans, to drink cup after cup of the marvelous coffee that has made the French Market world-famous.

But now we are able to place this historic blend—this delicious French coffee, in your grocer's hands, ready for your instant call.

Unlike Ordinary Coffees

WE import direct in original bags the famous Pan-American coffees, including the famous Blue Mountain Coffee of Jamaica, the choice of Guatemala, Caracas and Bogota.

These fine coffees are correctly combined in exactly the right blend and proportion.

It takes almost twice as long to roast French Market Coffee as it does ordinary coffee.

Yet all the flavor and aroma—all the refreshing and stimulating qualities of the coffee—are retained and intensified.

Packed in Air-Tight Tins

THUS we deliver to your grocer genuine French Market Coffee—this coffee like you get in Paris or Vienna—in all its freshness and unequaled flavor.

THE MEN WHO SUCCEED

Never Micawber Type "Waiting Something to Turn Up."

(Charlotte News).

The men who succeed in life are the men who do without murmuring the work that is given to them to do. The man who will slight his job is entitled to have no job at all. Grant, when he was a teamster at St. Louis, took good care of his team and delivered honest loads of wood to his customers. Garfield, when he was a canal boatsman attended strictly to the business of the little ship as he afterward did to the ship of State. Lincoln's rails were well split, and he attended thoroughly to his duties as village postmaster.

The most worthless of citizens, the greatest incubus upon the community, is the man who, like Wilkins Micawaber is "waiting for something to turn up." Gold was not discovered in California by men who were waiting for something to turn up. It was found by a man who was doing good, honest work digging a mill race. If Edison had been content with the perfunctory performance of his duties as an employe of the Western Union Telegraph Company at $10 a week and to wait for something to turn up, the incandescent light might not have glowed for us, the telephone might not have enabled us to chat with friends a block or 500 miles away, and the powerful tenor of Caruso ,the velvet soprano of Melba and the crash of Sousa's Band might not have been stored for us, to issue from the mouth of a horn at the turning of a crank.

Of course, opportunities should not be neglected. It is well to be alert to seize them and harness them and make them carry you to fortune. But don't stagnate in a swampy road waiting for an opportunity to turn up. Make an opportuity instead of waiting for one. Find out what you can do best in life today, and by doing it will create for yourself an opportunity to do something better tomorrow.

Newspaper writers are describing the Taft headquarters as the "Morgue," and referring to the Third Term party's headquarters as a "mad house." On the other hand the businesslike and well-directed enthusiasm of the Democratic headquarters receives the commendation of everyone who visits there.

The Seaboard's New President

W. J. Harahan, the new president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, is a product of the South. Born in the Southland, spending three-fourths of his life there, he won his way from an apprentice boy in the Louisville & Nashville shops to high responsibilities in railroad work and came under the eyes of great masters of railroad operations like Harriman with the inevitable result of removal to broader activities.

He now leaves the vice presidency of the Erie in the prime of life to come back South thoroughly trained in the school of experience, physically and mentally fit to take charge of a great railroad property such as the Seaboard.

President Underwood, of the Erie Railroad, recognized as one of the leaders in modern railroad operations has a reputation for picking prizes among railroad men. A number of men whose talents he discovered and whom he attached to his staff as lieutenants and who were taken as executives by other railroad systems have achieved success. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, is a notable example of this. It is therefore not surprising that a man of Mr. Harahan's capacity should be found on President Underwood's staff. Speaking of him Mr. Underwood said: "The Erie Railroad regrets exceedingly to lose his services, for the reason that he has constantly been placed in delicate and responsible positions and has invariably made good. He is a man of conspicuous ability and tact. When Mr. S. Davies Warfield, chairman of the executive committee of the Seaboard, saw me in reference to

PRESIDENT W. J. HARAHAN.

Mr. Harahan I told him that in my judgment he could not select a man better qualified to fill the requirements for president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway."

S. Davies Warfield, the Baltimore financier, in June last, when he became the dominant factor in the management of the Seaboard system, through the purchase by himself and associates of a large block of Seaboard stocks, announced a policy for this property marking a new epoch in the railroad affairs of the South. A Marylander by birth coming from a distinguished family of that State long identified with the development of the South, Mr. Warfield as chairman of the receivers of the Seaboard and active in the successful rehabilitation of the property became convinced that the growth of the South had reached a stage where ownership in an extensive railway system such as the Seaboard, with men of the South in the management to voice the needs of this section was a logical and timely need and that the South was rich enough in men and money to successfully carry out such a plan. This was the moving thing in the purchase of Seaboard stocks by the Warfield syndicate and as announced at the time the system will be operated from and in the South with representative business men on its directory from the States which it traverses. As Mr. Warfield puts it this means straight out independence of the Seaboard and a policy of intensive development of the territory which it serves. When Mr. N. S. Meldrum, of New York, president of the Seaboard, asked to be relieved of the duties of his office in order to devote his attention to other business interests, it followed, as expressed by Mr. Warfield, in the choice of his successor that "all things being equal preference would be given to a Southern man." Following a careful survey of about a dozen of the most promising railroad officials of the country the choice fell upon W. J. Harahan as the one man for the place and he happily proved to be a Southern man. The new era in the affairs of the Seaboard launched with the election of President Harahan is to be backed by ample capital as well as talent as Mr. Warfield through the syndicate formed by him has enlarged the financial connections of the railroad, insuring the procuring of money for its development with resultant benefits to the territory it serves and to its security holders. Some leading Eastern bankers, recognizing the wisdom of the new policy in the property, joined the Warfield syndicate and made substantial personal investments in Seaboard securities.

The new president of the Seaboard was born at Nashville, Tenn., on December 22nd, 1867, being the son of Mr. James T. Harahan, a noted railroad man, whose life was spent in the development of the South. His earliest recollections were in connection with the railroad business and his inclinations and sentiments were in that direction from his birth. In fact, he learned to read from the time card rather than from the primer. His first work was during vacation season, beginning in 1881, in the position of office boy in the superintendent's office of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad at New Orleans, La. In 1884 he went to work in the Louisville & Nashville shops at Louisville, Ky., learning the trade of machinist, thus beginning his railroad career at the bottom. In 1886 Mr. Harahan went into the Louisville & Nashville engineering department and remained in that department until 1892, having held the position of chainman, rodman, levelman, resident engineer on construction and assistant engineer maintenance of way, Louisville & Nashville Railroad; engineer maintenance of way of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and engineer in charge of bridges of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad. In 1892 he entered the operating department of the Illinois Central and was successive train master, assistant superintendent, superintendent, chief engineer, assistant general manager, general manager and vice president. He left the Illinois Central in 1907 to go with the Erie Railroad.

It will be seen that Mr. Harahan has had a most varied experience, in fact, it is a most unusual one. It has enabled him to come in contact with all the varying phases of railroad work in a manner which falls to the lot of but few men engaged in that work. In his early work touching elbows with the rank and file as a co-laborer he won their respect and confidence. This has followed him through his career with the result that his executive record is featured by most satisfactory relations with labor. Mr. Harahan's uniform success in handling men has been due to their confidence in his knowledge of the business from the bottom up together with a habit of justice and fairness to all alike with no favorite to be played and with a demeanor promoting earnest effort and good will. He is noted for his policy of developing the men on the roads on which he has worked, making changes when absolutely necessary with a first and full chance to men brought up on the road. That has been his life-long habit and has given him a record as a harmonizer and a developer of the highest esprit de corps.

Mr. Harrahan has had to contend with some extremely difficult operating conditions, requiring a deep knowledge of the technical side of railroad operation as well as ability to meet the changing situation so constantly occurring in railroad operation. It may well be imagined that the transactions of the operating department of a railroad are, from their very nature, of no monotonous character and that they require a supple mind to successfully grapple with them. Most of the problems arising in operation must be solved now—tomorrow will be too late. He has been notably successful in handling the operating side of the railroad as is shown by the results of his work. He has fully realized that to be truly successful implies not only the proper physical handling of the business, but also its proper handling considering the important business question of economy.

Mr. Harahan has shown pronounced constructive ability. He does not follow in the beaten path unless a careful analysis develops it to be the proper course. He has that unsatisfactory craving of the mind which every constructive genius must have. He wants to know the reason why things are so. He wants to know whether they should be so and whether they could better be otherwise; whether his property is obtaining the best results which are possible for it under the conditions. The result of such policy can but result for the good of the community because it means that the railroad will be efficient, its facilities enlarged, its capacity for business amplified, all of which must first have a foundation in the enlargement of the business of the community which it serves.

During his career, he has had charge of the construction of over 425 miles of new railroad. He has double-tracked, and, at the same time, reduced the grades on over 760 miles of railroad, and he has remodeled and rebuilt over 175 miles of railroad, a total of over 1,350 miles. The latter two items of work are even more difficult of design and of execution than the construction of new railroad; as in the first place they require a profound knowledge of the economics of railroading in order that money may not be uselessly spent, and again the execution of the work involves the taking care of moving trains at the time the work is progressing, which must be done without accident and at the minimum of expense. In the changing of grades, for instance, there are at times very difficult situations met with—for instance, on one occasion he was confronted with the necessity of raising a long bridge so that what was originally the elevation of the top of the bridge became the elevation of the bottom, and the work had to be done under traffic, trains being moved over it while the raising was going on. He has also constructed office buildings, large depots, docks, wharves and mammoth yards, in fact, all the different improvements which are required in the manifold operation of a railroad which is the most diverse buyer of supplies and materials of any business in the world.

One of the most important pieces of work which Mr. Harahan constructed was the four-track entrance of the Erie Railroad into New York City. This entrance was through the Palisades of the Hudson, and while only a few miles long, cost as much as 100 miles of ordinary railroad on account of its stupendous character. It was of an extremely delicate character and the most important work involved the carving of a rock canyon 4,000 feet long, 60 to 100 feet deep, only 22 feet away from a double track tunnel in active operation by several hundred trains per day. The work was accomplished without an accident. He has displayed conspicuous ability in emergency work of every character such as washouts, fires, etc. A notable piece of work which he performed was after the destruction, by fire, of the Illinois Central docks at New Orleans in 1906. This fire occurred about March 1st. It necessitated the rebuilding of 3,600 feet of dock and about 3,000 lineal feet of brick and concrete warehouse, the building of grain elevators of large capacity and the rebuilding of many miles of yard track, all to be in operation for the Fall business. This was accomplished so that the Illinois Central did a large export business as usual when the next season opened up. Work was started on rebuilding before the fire had burned out.

In his relations with the public and the public authorities Mr. Harahan has been conspicuously successful, due to the fact that he is a thoughtful student of the attitude of the people and their representatives towards railroads. He has observed the tendency on the part of public thought towards regulation of railroads and has felt that as long as the acceptance of regulation was necessary that the railroads should bow gracefully to it and advance towards a solution of the question by helpful co-operation rather than by obstructive tactics which always produce soreness and usually terminate in more drastic measures than if it is tempered by co-operative methods. It will be found that he will spend much time on the property, meeting the people and learning their wants and needs. He has been a most earnest advocate of the doctrine enunciated by a prominent Eastern railway man (who, by the way, is a Southerner), that is, "The public be pleased."

Mr. Harahan's family life is ideal. His wife is a Southern woman. She was Miss Smith, of Nashville, Tenn. They were married in Nashville in 1890, and have eleven children. Mr. Harahan's personality is very pleasing and he impresses one with the idea that he knows his business, and, that while he is willing to discuss business matters to a conclusion, yet he desires to expedite it by a serious consideration of the questions at hand only and without extraneous discussion. Thoroughness in everything, with none of the "touch and go" style that dodges conclusiveness and leads to half-baked measures is a habit Mr. Harahan has instilled in all of his subordinates. Comprehensive planning so that the cloth is cut to fit is carried down to the lowest supervising official whether section foreman or shop foreman so that expenditures are known from day to day and the reason for any abnormal costs quickly signalled to the responsible head. Loyalty to company as a first and preferential duty, common sense as one of the greatest elements in meeting difficulties, and an intimate knowledge of the work in hand from actual experience, or the next best thing—a willingness to learn by frank inquiry with the assurance of sound information readily and courteously given, are rungs plainly marked upon the ladder of success which Mr. Harahan has the habit of constantly impressing upon his organization. President Harahan took charge of the Seaboard system immediately on his election last Thursday, September 26th. In accordance with the new policy to locate the operations of the system in the South, the office of president will be moved from New York to Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., where the general offices of the system are located.

Simmons' Speech

Mr. Simmons is a lawyer by profession, and as such, with the shrewdness acquired by political dealings, he built up for himself a defense, very pleasing to his sympathizers. Yet, he refuses to be cross-examined. He knows that his elaborately built up case would go to pieces under the cross-examination of either Judge Clark or Governor Kitchin. Hence his refusal of a joint debate. No plea is more childish than the one that such a course would hurt the Democratic party. The Democratic party cannot be hurt by letting in the light. It can be hurt and will be hurt by keeping out the light. The people have no way of judging the faithfulness and sincerity of their public servants but by their actions and not by their words. And judging Senator Simmons by his record, it becomes apparent that he is an "Undesirable Senator" indeed.

The Senator's apologetic explanation of his tariff record is monstrous. Because those fellows up North steal, I will steal, is the substance of his defense. The Republican party is just about getting its just does for this stealing. It is split in twain and down and out.

Senator Simmons says that he voted for a tariff on lumber because this State has a great lumber industry. Since when do the Lumber Trust and the wealthy Timber Barons constitute the people of North Carolina? The man who builds a house, a stable or a chicken coop pays more for his lumber than ever before.

Are coal and iron North Carolina products, too? Senator Simmons helped shove up the tariff on these articles. Winter is at hand and the people are paying more for coal than ever before.

Lumber was to be free and coal and iron substantially reduced according to the Democratic platform. Simmons helped make this platform and pledged himself to uphold it.

Senator Simmons says that he only voted with Aldrich thirteen times. Judge Clark says that, if Simmons voted with Aldrich only once, he voted with him once too often.

Senator Simmons says that he sat on the Lorimer case only as a juror, and as such he had a right to change his vote. But he failed to tell his audience that he virtually acted as his attorney as well, standing up in the Senate as he did, making a speech in Lorimer's defence and characterizing him at its conclusion, the peer of any man in the Senate. It was not new evidence that caused the Senator to change his vote, but the big noise that was made by the people down home. Twenty-one Senators failed to be re-elected by their constituencies, simply because they voted for Lorimer, so corrupt was the whole Lorimer mess.

In his appeal to the prejudices of his audience, Simmons says that Collier's Weekly is a

MUCKRAKING, ROTTEN, FILTHY AND STINKING MAGAZINE.

Ignoring this impolite and intemperate language on part of the Senator in the presence of ladies, the remarkable fact remains that the three most partisan Simmons papers in the State say otherwise about Collier's, to-wit:

Collier's Weekly is a staunch admirer of the South. Quick to go to the bottom of a proposition, ready to appreciate real value wherever found. This large and influential journal has become thoroughly convinced that nowhere in the nation is there to be found a section which promises so much as the South; a section so richly blessed with boundless resources.—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

Collier's has done itself special credit, placing the South under an obligation which will not soon be forgotten.—Charlotte (N. C.) Observer.

This paper thinks well of Collier's National Weekly. It is astonishing what this paper has accomplished—for example in the Ballinger business. It is a journal that takes itself seriously, and has a right to do so. It feels that it has a delicate mission to perform, and even those who are inclined to classify it among the muck-raking periodicals will have to admit that its achievements in that direction have been noteworthy.—Asheville (N. C.) Citizen.

After swatting Messrs. Cannon and Aldrich a knock-out blow, curdling the cream in Mr. Post's post toasties, spilling the contents of various patent medicine vials, Collier's is now pulling the wool of the Wool Trust. Collier's is one magazine not afraid of the world, the flesh nor the devil, and nine times out of ten it is right.—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

There are on record in a folder, sent out by Collier's, hundreds ofsimilar laudatory newspaper articles and references by the Southern press. Even the National Democratic Publicity Committee, directed by Chairman Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, is sending out editorial sayings from Collier's in support of Governor Wilson for the Presidency.

Another Democratic measure, reciprocity, Mr. Simmons helped to defeat. Not openly, but by tacking on as an amendment, the delusive Farmers' Free List bill. Senator Simmons knew that President Taft would veto this good Democratic measure when he tacked the above rider on and so with the help of two other discredited Democratic Senators, the bill went down in defeat. This is only one of the insidious modes of defeating a bill. Chloroforming in committee or inserting a joker are the other subtle means of subtle Senators.

Senator Simmons says that he is the friend of the farmer. No one is better able to judge this assertion than the farmer himself. "The Country Gentleman", the largest and most influential non-partisan agricultural paper in the United States, condemns Senator Simmons in no uncertain terms.

If Senator Simmons is the friend of the laboring man, his activities in shoving up the cost of living, fail to show it. An investigation of the condition of labor in the lumber camps will soon disabuse one's mind of that claim.

Senator Simmons has been in the Senate now for twelve years. Long tenure of office is apt to produce an unaccountable waywardness. The Senator has eaten of "Strange Meat". He is not only out of harmony with his party, but he is utterly lacking in the democracy of the heart, which pleads for Equal Justice, Equal Rights, and Equal Opportunities!

A SECRETARY OF PEACE.

Presidential Candidates Being Sounded on New Cabinet Proposition.

New York, Oct. 5.—President Taft, Theodore Roosevelt and Governor Woodrow Wilson are to be sounded within a fortnight as to their views on the addition to the cabinet of the President of the United States of a Secretary of Peace. It is further planned by the societies which have allied themselves in this movement to have the American representatives at the International Peace Congress, now in session at Geneva, present this question to the representatives of every world power, anticipating the establishment of this high and unusual office generally.

The matter to be presented to the Presidential candidates from a special committee representing, besides most of the peace movement organizations, a number of religious denominations. The idea of sectarianism, however, has not entered into any of its deliberations. On the contrary, it is understood that the first suggested choice for this office, James Cardinal Gibbons, was made unanimous.

This proposed action may be considered a direct echo of that fostered a few years ago by the American Harmony Society. At that time Geo. T. Angell, of Boston, the society's president, strongly urged Cardinal Gibbons, holding that his influence would be powerful in preventing future conflicts between the United States and Catholic nations.

The Cardinal has personally made no comment on the proposal as yet, but his interest in cause of peace has always been keen. Allen S. Will, the biographer, says of him in his "Life of Cardinal Gibbons."

"With President Taft, Secretary of State Knox, Andrew Carnegie and other noted men, he took part in the dedication of a great Peace Palace of the American Republics in Washington, April 25, 1910. His address at the Third National Peace Congress held in Baltimore in May, 1911, was a powerful appeal for an arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain as a forerunner of similar conventions binding all nations. The president of the congress, in introducing him, characterized him as one of the most potent forces in the world for the abolition of war and recalled the appeal issued by Cardinal Gibbons, Logue and Vaughan at Easter, 1896, as one of the great contributory causes of the Hague Conference of 1899."

It is said that the office of secretary of peace as proposed carries no special authority, being an advisory one for the most part. The exact draft of this innovation and the style of its presentation for the approval of the candidates or President will not be made public until they have received the question direct.

It is understood, however, that the various possible contingencies arising from the opening of the Panama canal, the strained relations between France and Germany, the foment in the Far East, the Turko-Italian war and the disturbances in Central America are items dealt with forcibly and at length.

The estrangement between "Will" and "Theodore" has reached a point where "Theodore's" campaign manager accuses "Will's" campaign manager of setting detectives to shadowing him; worse still, "Theodore's" manager charges that the detectives tapped his wires and actually overheard a conversation between himself and one of "Theodore's" chief backers, Mr. McCormick.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Illinois.

Auto-Intoxication—Concluded. — In this, the last article on this subject to show the practicability of the home treatment, an actual case will be cited. The following letter was received from a reader of these articles:

Dear Doctor: Your advice to invalids seems so sensible I am writing to you for the best you give to a discouraged, emaciated woman. I am five feet tall, weigh 94 pounds, and am 42 years old. I have been a sufferer from what the physicians call dyspepsia, intestinal indigestion, with malassimilation. I am very nervous, but, of course, non-assimilation of food is causing starvation of nerves and tissues. My meals sour badly about two hours after eaten, and at this time I get extremely nervous. I have alternate attacks of constipation and diarrhoea. Constipation, however, is more prevalent. I do not sleep after four o'clock in the morning. Have exceedingly poor circulation in hands There is a great deal of irritation in my mouth and entire alimentary canal. There are cankers in the mouth and it seems as if it had been scalded. When my bowels do move naturally, there follows a feeling of extreme distress and exhaustion, all through the abdomen. How can I obtain your lectures on obesity and leanness?

(Mrs.) H. B. S.

Dyspepsia, with intestinal indigestion, although an ailment quite severe can be overcome. Your condition has gone unchecked so long until now your case is one of severe auto intoxication, which results from poisons from the intestinal tract being absorbed into the circulation. Your food not being properly acted upon by the juices of the stomach, passes into the intestines in an unprepared state, where it begins to undergo fermentation and decomposition, forming gases, which distend the intestines, causing distress. Canker sores in the mouth are common; at times urinary troubles occur. In their effects upon the nervous system these same poisons cause insomnia and depression, that presage nervous prostration.

The first thing that suggests itself is a thorough cleansing of your entire alimentary canal, so as to rid the whole tract of all fermenting and decaying debris. When this is done the system begins to throw off poisons that are in the blood, into the intestines, which is the natural channel for their elimination.

Cathartic—You might think that taking an active cathartic would be all that is necessary; but, no. Active cathartics exhaust the system and leave the person feeling weaker after their use than before. Don't use them.

Colon Flushings—Colon flushings or high enemas are the best means of cleansing the intestinal canal. This does not leave a depressed or weak feeling, as do the cathartics. Colon flushings or high enemas taken with a two or three-quart fountain syringe, and a soft rubber colon tube about two or three feet long. The first of these flushings may be taken with soapy water, heated to a temperature of about 99 or 100 degrees F. Since your case is a severe one, I would advise you to take three flushings every day for three or four days. By this time the entire interstinal tract will be thoroughly cleansed.

Fast—In the meantime, you should eat very little, if any food. In fact I advise you to take a seven-day or ten-day fast, and you might as well begin it when you begin the Colon flushings. You will probably experience a feeling of hunger for the first three or four days, but this will soon pass off. Your fast should be absolute, taking nothing but plenty of pure water.

After you have taken three or four of the Colon flushings, skip a day and then take an ordinary rectal enema every day during the fast. These are to keep the bowels active so that the poison which is being constantly thrown into the bowel will be carried off.

During your fast, you must take moderate exercises out of doors, and practice deep breathing exercises. Bathe regularly every day in water at the temperature best suited to you. This will keep the skin active, which is very necessary.

Breaking Fast—The most difficult part of the treatment now comes—the breaking of the fast. This must be done carefully and properly, or harm may be done. Any one person unskilled in matter of diet and especially those unused to fasting should not attempt to cure any condition by fasting without specific directions regarding the return to food. We have written specific directions for your case but it would be unwise to describe it here.

No two physical bodies are alike; for that reason your food must be outlined and suited to your needs regardless of fads and theories. Truth is always a relative proposition, and the absolute fact as it appears to one person may be absolutely false to another when considered from the standpoint of food value of any article of diet. Learn to take your medicine with a fork, that is, in the shape of food. If you don't know how to select the right remedy from your kitchen or from your grocery, then call upon the Home Health Club, by writing us again all about your symptoms and if we can help you pick out a suitable diet of meats and herbs, vegetables, fruits and nuts or cereals, we will gladly do it.

All readers of this publication are at liberty at any time to write for information pertaining to the subject of health. Address all communications to the Home Health Club, 5039 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, Ill., U. S. A., with name and address in full and at least four cents in postage.

John R. Considine, well known sporting man and part owner of the Hotel Metropole, in Manhattan, who died on June 26, 1909 supposed to be worth $300,000, left a net estate of but $23,443.

COTTON IN TEXAS

Those Who Wish to Hold Are Being Financed

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 5.—Southwest Texas farmers wishing to hold their cotton for higher prices will be assisted materially by the action of a number of the large financial institutions in this part of the State agreeing to make loans to farmers at 6 per cent interest, taking their cotton in warehouses as security. The movement was started when the San Antonio National Bank, one of the strongest financial institutions in this city, entered into an agreement with the Texas Farmers Union to lend as much as $25 a bale on middling cotton to actual farmers on presentation of warehouse receipts properly authenticated. Since then the Corpus Christi National Bank has announced it has $1v..0 to lend farmers in Nueces county on similar terms and the German American National Bank of Mason also has come into line. It is contended by some cotton men that the cotton factors will lend more money on cotton and the offer of the banks will not attract the farmers, but, on the other hand, many farmers would rather hold their cotton to suit themselves and keep out of the hands of the factors, and many applications for loans are being made to the banks.

The Steel Trust recognizes no union among its workers. Perkins, organizing genius of that trust, and chief financial backer of the third term candidate, predicts that if the trusts are not permitted to continue and enjoy monopoly, there will be labor troubles. This would lead one to suspect that labor might find its advantageous to have the steel trust dissolved.

While the third term candidate is ranting of social service and praising his friend and financial backer Perkins, of the Steel and Harvester Trusts, it must not be forgotten that the Steel and Harvester trusts are the greatest enemies of union labor in the country.

"Mrs. Codgers is dreadfully afraid of embonpoint," remarked Mrs. Gadsley. "Is that so?" chirped Mrs. Wepper. "My favorite awnt had it and the poor thing just wasted away!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

of the fast express means serious trouble ahead if not removed, so does loss of appetite. It means lack of vitality, loss of strength and nerve weakness. If appetite fails, take Electric Bitters quickly to overcome the cause by toning up the stomach and curing the indigestion. Michael Hessheimer, of Lincoln, Neb., had been sick over three years, but six bottles of Electric Bitters put him right on his feet again. They have helped thousands. W. L. Benson, 620 S. Second St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I cheerfully re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and confirm the statement I gave in their praise in February, 1908. My back ached nearly all the time and I could not straighten after stooping or lifting without having a sharp pain in my loins. Mornings when I got up, I was very lame and sore and I noticed that the kidney secretions contained sediment. Soon after I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Bellamy's drug store, I felt better in every way and it was not long before I was enjoying the best of health. My advice to anyone suffering from kidney complaint is to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

GOSSIP OF FOREIGN CAPITALS

Redistribution of French Fleet—Red Tape in Paris—Mexico's Capital. Free Shows and Other News of Quaint Republic.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The redistribution of the French fleet through the sending of the North Sea squadron to the Mediterranean has left the defense of the channel coast and the Bay of Biscay to the destroyers and submarines.

Cherbourg has been selected as the base for a fleet of 24 of these swift craft and a large number of submarines. These destroyers, which will be known as the flotilla squadron of the channel, will be charged to defend the coast between Cherbourg and Havre and protect such ports of commerce as Calais and Boulogne, Granville, Saint Malo, but especially Havre and the mouth of the Seine.

With the exception of two submarines to go to Toulon, all French submarines will remain at Cherbourg to join with the destroyers in a defensive or offensive action in case of war.

An American visitor to Paris recently discovered that the red tape which binds officialdom there is even stronger than that to be found in other countries. He tried to cash a cabled order for $15 at a postoffice near the Opera and knowing that some proof of identity would be required produced successively:

An international automobilists permit, with photograph.

A permit issued by the French Touring Club, with photograph.

A certificate of Ownership of his motorcycle.

A license from the French Customs.

A number of letters addressed to him.

A letter of identity duly legalized by the United States Consul General at Paris.

These papers, he was told, were insufficient. He must bring two witnesses. He found them. Two officials of a large firm, one of them furnished with a regular procuration, and the other with 20 letters addressed to him accompanied him to the postoffice, but in vain. Finally one of the two witnesses, whose identity in turn was suspected, had a stroke of genius. He went out and came back with an elector's card and immediately all difficulties vanished.

This incident is commented on with much gusto by the Press and many have been the attempts to find the explanation of the magic power of an elector's card. High officials, questioned, "have nothing to say."

Friends of "the Divine Sarah" are determined that she shall have a decoration of some kind. Foiled by what they term the incomprehensible scruples of the Council of the Legion of Honor, they now demand that the new medal being issued in commemoration of the "terrible year" 1870-71, shall be pinned on the breast of Madame Bernhardt by the minister of war.

The great actress performed prodigies of valor during the siege of the capital, tending the wounded at the Odeon and frequently coming within the zone of hurtling shells and bullets.

J. H. Fabre, the noted entomologist whose straightened circumstances have lately been the subject of much sympathetic concern, has been put up for the Nobel prize for literature by Baron D'Estournelles de Constant. Fabre was among those considered last year for the same prize which, however, finally went to Maetterlinck. The candidacy of the famous Frenchman is being widely supported. It had been proposed to elect Fabre to one of the vacant seats in the Academie Francaise, but it appears only residents of Paris are eligible to the Institute.

The barbers and hairdressers of France are incensed against the proprietors of drug stores for encroaching upon their trade. At their annual congress in Paris they passed a stern resolution against the druggists, who protested that the barbers themselves had crossed far into pharmaceutical territory.

French barbers have for a long time made a practice of selling toilet goods in addition to performing toilet operations. At first they confined themselves to stocks of such articles as are directly connected with matters recognized as barbers' business, such as shaving soap, shaving brushes, strops, shaving paper, hair ointments, and so on. But little by little they have extended their line until it now covers not only the head and face, but the hands, feet and body as well.

Mexico City, Oct. 5.—Mexico's capital is slowly becoming a city of refugees. Foreigners, especially Americans, have been leaving for months and hundreds of Mexicans of the well-to-do class have deserted the city on account of the deplorable conditions created by civil war. The number of those deserting, however, is not so large as that of those who have fled here from the plantations, mines and smaller cities and towns of the interior.

Possibly the population of the capital is slightly greater now than it has ever been, but dealers in those articles classified as luxuries complain bitterly of the state of affairs.

Prices of staple supplies have continued to increase on account of the decreased production throughout the Republic and reports from the agricultural districts give little hope of relief. There has been little crop planting in numerous districts. Men who formerly worked in the fields and factories now find that campaigning with the rebel chiefs is quite as profitable and much more diverting notwithstanding the drastic measures authorized by the government for their extermination.

* * *

Residents of the capital appear not to be greatly perturbed by the knowledge that a score of States are embarrassed by rebels. Society is looking forward with great interest to the opening of the opera season next month and the devotees of the bull fight are displaying a keen interest in the inauguration of the Winter's season of fights. The management of the big steel bull ring has gone ahead with its plans for bringing to Mexico the best matadores obtainable this year—Machaquito, Puntaret and Gallito—confident, apparently, that the residents of this capital, whether governed by Madero, Orozco or Zapata, will yet provide its quota of some 20,000 every Sunday to witness the skilful work of "the great" Spanish "toreros."

The President himself appears not to let the disturbed condition in his country interfere greatly with his social movements and a not infrequent note in the morning papers is one telling of a picnic attended by the President and Mrs. Madero, or a banquet that was distinguished by the presence of the President.

* * *

Free cinematograph shows were established recently in various parts of the city in order to interest the poorer people of the city in ways that are peaceful, one of the problems the present government of the Federal district has been studying for some months. The invitation to attend them has been eagerly accepted. Agents were appointed to select the films with a view to seeing that none of an objectionable class were shown.

* * *

Trousers are now to be provided by the government for the Mexican Indians when they visit town. In the days of the Diaz regime repeated efforts were made to induce the Indian population of the Federal District to substitute real trousers for the white cotton imitations they wore, but never with any great success.

Polite Mexico was not so much shocked by the appearance of her simple sons in apparel more suggestive of underwear than of pantaloons, as she was embarrassed. Her attitude was that of "What will other people say?"

The new regime is no less insistent that the Indians must "dress up" when they come to town! so Governor Gonzalez Garza has decreed that they must abandon their white cotton clothing at the edge of the city where from government stores they will be compelled to purchase real trousers at 50 centavos a pair.

To encourage the culture of fruit in the State, the Legislature of Veracruz has recently made an appropriation to provide prizes to be distributed among ranch owners who make the best progress in the fruit growing industry. Prizes of from $100 to $1,000 will be awarded to whosoever shall plant and be the first to harvest crops of oranges, pineapples and mangoes. As a special inducement, all companies and individuals owning ranches, who will devote a prescribed portion of their land to fruit raising, will be exempted from payment of land taxes for a period of ten years, and will be advanced by the State authorities a sum equal to ten per cent. of the transportation charges to the nearest shipping point for their product, for a period of five years.

OUR WONDERFUL GROWTH.

United States Has 229 Cities of Over 25,000 Population.

A recent bulletin of the Census Bureau shows that there has been a marked increase in the past decade in the number of American cities of over 25,000 population, says Leslie's Weekly. The United States has 229 of these, or much more than any other country of the world, except China. Almost every State has one or more of these cities, but Massachusetts leads all the rest, with 25 of them, or much more than are found in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, or Ohio, States which lead it in aggregate number of inhabitants. Massachusetts' ascendancy in this particular is chiefly due to its vast expansion in manufactures, which makes it the most thickly settled State of the whole 48, except Rhode Island. It is much more thickly settled than are most of the countries of Europe.

Of the cities which have over 25,000 people now, the lead in rate of growth in the past 10 years was greater, 539 per cent. in Oklahoma City, with Muskogee, of the same State, standing second, with an increase of 494 per cent. The growth there is due to the fact that the entire State of Oklahoma is new and is rapidly filling up, its increase in population in the decade ending with 1910 having been 109 per cent., or more than any other State except Washington, whose growth in that time was 120 per cent. That great commonwealth of the Northwest is diversifying its activities, and, with 1,200,000 inhabitants, it is the most populous State west of the Rocky Mountains, except California. Its leading city, Seattle, with 237,000 people grew to the extent of 194 per cent. in the past 10 years. The largest rate of increase of any city of over 100,000 people west of the Mississippi in the decade was in Los Angeles, 211 per cent. With 319,000 inhabitants, it is the largest city on the sunset side of that river except St. Louis and San Francisco, and it will probably lead San Francisco by 1920. It is a health resort as well as a great business center. Among the older and larger cities east of the Mississippi the most notable gains in the decade were made by Chicago, 28 per cent.; Bridgeport, 43 per cent.; Columbus, Ohio, 44 per cent.; Cleveland, 47 per cent.; Richmond, Va., 50 per cent.; and Detroit, 63 per cent.

A quick cure for coughs and colds, it's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsilitis, hemorrhages. THE AGE OF CONCRETE

A Comparatively New Material Now Put to Many Uses

At present a comparatively new material is pushing its way into popularity, and that for an infinitude of uses. Portland cement, as it was first called, was first made known to the world about 1824 at Portland, England, where it was first manufactured, and came into favorable notice in connection with submarine construction where ordinary stone work had utterly failed. It was not until 1895, however, that it was manufactured in the United States, and it was only within the last decade that it has begun to supplant brick and stone as a building material. Made by the calcination of marl, clay, slag and other materials, it absorbs water freely and is mixed with sand and broken rock in varying proportions, the strongest being one part of cement to two of sand and four of "aggregate." It sets almost as soon as mixed; continues to absorb water and to harden for many days, and gains strength for many years.

Millions of bags have been used in constructing the Panama canal; no fortification is considered complete without it; great hulks and lighters are built of steel skeletons coated with concrete and the belief is very common that it must soon replace both wood and brick in house construction. Indeed, the high price of lumber, the greater cost of brick, owing to higher fuel and wages, with the resultant use of inferior lumber and brick weakened by modern processes which hasten the burning, but leave the product much more porous and softer than those made in the old way, must tend to increase the use of concrete for dwellings and small buildings of all kinds. Immense areas of sidewalk and pavement are laid yearly and are swiftly increasing, and in the stupendous tunnels, sewers, bridges, dams, seawalls and other public structures, concrete has largely replaced brick and stone.

William Speiden, of New York, who has been spending the Summer at Swampscot, and Isaac C. Pray, a former member of the Salem police force, now a resident of Middleton, are thought to be the only living members in this part of the country of the Commodore Perry expedition to Japan in 1853.

Bell Telephone Bulletins

11—THE INTRICATE MECHANISM

The switchboard—the most intricate and interesting adjunct of the telephone business—is divided into sections and there are usually three operators' positions in each section. An operator sits at each position, and from this point can reach the line of every subscriber in the exchange. However, only a limited number of subscribers' answering jackets terminate in front of each operator. This causes it to be possible for an operator to connect a calling party with any number on the switchboard, but she can answer the calls of only a few subscribers. Whenever a new section is added to the switchboard it is necessary to run the wires and connect the line of every subscriber into the new section.

Sometimes subscribers fail to answer their telephones promptly, and when they do answer it the operator says "Number, please," if the calling party has grown impatient and hung up his receiver. Only one operator can answer you when you ask for a number, but any operator at the switchboard can ring your telephone bell. If an operator has a rush of calls those on each side of her come to her assistance and a supervisor is always at hand to help her out.

The work of the operators is interesting and fascinating and is well worth a visit to our exchange.

Division of Receipts

Receipts of the games for the world series are to be divided as follows:

For the first four games, 10 per cent of the receipts goes to the National Commission; 60 per cent goes to a pool for the players (60 per cent of this pool to the winning players and 40 per cent to the losers); remaining 30 per cent of the total receipts is equally divided between the two club owners. All the receipts of games after the fourth go to the club owners.

The financial record established last year was the highest of any world series to date. The total receipts for the six games was $342,264. Of this each of the 21 Philadelphia American players, as winners, received $3,654, while each of the losing New York National players received $2,436.

Umpires for World Series

Arbitration of the close plays in world championship games is vested in a force of four umpires, or twice the number in ordinary games. One is stationed behind the plate, one about the bases, and two in the outfield.

The selection of the umpires is made by the presidents of the two major leagues, each choosing 2 from his staff. The choice this year fell upon: William Klem and Charles Rigler, representing the National League; William Evenas and "Silk" O'Loughlin, representing the American League.

Mr. Klem is the only one of the four who participated in last year's series, although all of them are veterans as big league umpires and are generally popular with the baseball public.

Previous World Series

The first baseball game recorded as played for "the championship of the world" was in 1884 when Providence of the National League, defeated the Metropolitans of New York, 3 to 0. In the 27 years since then there have been 18 other world series staged, the last eight of which, since 1903, have been under auspices of the National Baseball Commission.

The Boston Americans won this first series under the Commission auspices, from Pittsburg. In 1904, the following year, the Giants and Red Sox were, as now, the pennant winning clubs in the two leagues but no world series played. Thereafter, however the games have been arranged annually, and in the eight series there have been 48 games played, of which the National League clubs have won 24, and one was tied.

The present contenders for world honors in baseball met in a post-season series three years ago which Boston won over New York by 4 games to 1. Although that result has but a remote bearing upon the present series, it is of interest for practically all of the present Giants and many of the present Boston players faced each other then. Boston has added the greater number of new faces, but Joe Wood, its star pitcher, opposed Methewson at that time, and Carrigan and Myers were opposing catchers.

In the first game Methewson, although hit harder than Wood, defeated the youngster by a score of 4 to 2. In the fourth game it as Mathewson against Ray Collins, who is still on the Boston pitching staff, and the latter shut out the Giants 2 to 0. The wonderful batting of Speaker, still the star hitter of the Bostons, was really the feature of the series. At bat 21 times, he made 12 hits, including two home runs and a three bagger.

STRENGTH OF THE OUTFIELD

Will be Matched Against Each Other in World's Series—Some Characteristics of the Players. Other Notes.

Boston, Oct. 5.—In comparing the work of the two outfields that will be matched in the world's series, the remarkable hitting of Tristram Speaker gives the Red Sox all the advantage so far as the batting is concerned, writes Tim Murnane, in the Globe. Lewis, Speaker and Hooper will take care of the outer garden for the Speed Boys, while Devore, Snodgrass and Murray will do the work of the Giants. As Snodgrass played a number of games this season at first base, the fielding figures will be useless for comparison in his case.

The New York sunfield is more than likely to bother Lewis, who has shown little aptitude in mastering the smoked glasses used in such fields. As a throwing outfielder Lewis has it on the New York left fielder, and while not as good a waiter at the bat, "Duffy" is a fine long driver and a clever player when it comes to timely hitting.

Lewis is cool and rises to the occasion. He is a dead sure catch. I think the New York player will judge his man at the bat better than Lewis and handle ground balls fully as well. Lewis, however, should be the better all-round man by a shade.

I look on Speaker as the finest all-round player that has played center field in years; a top-notch hitter, a fine base runner, a grand ground-coverer and thrower—in short, a man who plays his position with better judgment than any man of the present day and as well as the great stars of the past.

Snodgrass is a hard fighter and a grand good ball player, who never quits; but he is not in the same class with Tris Speaker. Speaker has developed a new idea in baseball, and works with the other fielders.

The New York men are ordinary fielders in comparison with the Boston outfit.

Hooper will outfield Murray in a jog, is fully as good a thrower, and a much better base runner. Furthermore, he has, I believe, more love for a real scrap.

Murray's failure to show form at the bat last Fall does not mean that he will repeat this season. In fact, it would be a good move to place a bet on Murray doing the best all-round work of the New York outfielders.

The Boston outfield as a whole, will cover 15 per cent. more ground than the Giants' trio. The Boston men are much surer men in holding the ball, and are more likely to make shoestring catches. The Boston men have no weakness when it comes to the art of fielding, while many flaws can be found in the work of McGraw's men.

Every one of the Boston men is a remarkably fast and accurate thrower, while Murray alone of the Giants comes under that head. I doubt if the three Boston men have dropped six balls this season, and yet they go after everything and have made more sensational catches than any other three fielders playing baseball.

All have long reaches, and are strong in taking balls hit over their heads, running with the ball with their backs to the plate.

While the Giants have an average outfield, Boston has a wonderful trio to look out for balls that pass the infield. Speaker being the strongest in the business in looking after Texas leaguers.

For extra outfielders both teams have strong men. Becker has a shade on Henriksen when it comes to fielding and throwing, while the Bostonian is a stronger man with the stick and faster on the bases.

Becker is so good that he may be worked in several games, as the men will be changed when left-handed pitchers are in the game.

The Boston outfielders can hit both right-handed and left-handed pitchers, as well as the boys with the moist ball, and the New York men have shown little weakness against the left-handers.

Henriksen will be worked as the pinch hitter against the right-handers, while young Krug will work against the left-handers. Becker and Crandall, as well as Burns, can do that line of work for the Giants.

As these men are all first-class workmen, any one may carry off the honors; for it's not the stars who do the most effective work in the post-season series, judging from the past.

In fact, the games for the world's championship have yet to see any remarkable outfielding, as the hitting has always been weak, the picked pitchers stopping free hitting.

Odds Against Giants Unjustified, According to New York Authorities —Smoky Joe's Part In the Equation—The Clubs

New York, Oct. 5—Careful research into public opinion reveals the fact that one Joe Wood has been the chief cause for odds being laid against the Giants in the coming frolic with the Boston Red Sox. It seems to be the general belief that Smoky Joe looms up as the dark and forbidding cloud that will scatter disaster in the ranks of the polo grounds. For the benefit of the fans who are about to put the price of their Winter overcoats on the Giants there may be released a ray of hope that probably they will not have to spend a coatless Winter, for the Giants have one grand little chance in the world's series, despite odds and opinion and Wood.

Among conservative betting men, who have approached the situation without prejudice, the sentiment prevails that the odds against the Giants are uncalled for, and that the world's series as the clubs now stand, offers nothing better than an even-money betting proposition. It is quite likely that when the clubs close in on each other at the Polo Grounds it will be a difficult matter to get odds either way you want to lay your money.

The mere presence of Joe Wood on the Red Sox line-up has influenced the belief that the Giants cannot win the series. Joe is being counted on to go in single-handed and sweep the decks with McGraw's minions. There is no question of Wood's ability as a hurler, and his performances through the season justify confidence in him, but it will require Joe Wood plus considerable of something else to take four games from the National League champions. It has been one of the peculiar characteristics of world series in the past that the wildly heralded stars upon whom so much confidence was placed have never shone out when the frolic got under way. It has usually been someone not counted on as being in there at all that has come through with the big punch at the psychological moment. Babe Adams went into the series between Pittsburg and Detroit almost an unknown, and became a hero in a week. Rube Marquard, after making a brilliant finish in the National League, carried the hopes of many as he ushered himself into the ray with the Athletics, but he failed to deliver the necessary victory. Ty Cob, after leading the American League in batting, hit something under .200 when he went into the classic against the Pirates.

If precedent means anything it will be Bedient, Collins, Hall or O'Brien who will probably come through with the best game against the Giants, instead of Wood, who is expected to do so much. Public opinion, which is almost invariably wrong on big events of this kind, is one hint that many betting men will follow in placing money on McGraw's men.

Another phase of the situation is that the prevailing opinion has been formed largely on the showing the Giants made in midseason. As McGraw's men played in the first three months of the campaign there are few who would not make them favorites against any club in the country. Their chances in the coming series have depended a great deal on what shape the club was in when it went to the barrier, and the last few days have proved that the Giants are back in something like the form they were in when they were sweeping everything before them. Their fielding has ben brilliant and their attack has been hard and consistent.

A comparison made of the clubs, man for man, shows that the edge the Giant infield has on the inner defense of the Sox offsets the advantage Boston has in its outfield. The Giants are a better hitting team by a fair margin and that brings the argument back to the pitchers, where, it is safe to say, the battle will finally he fought out.

Wood's speed, which has carried him so successfully through the season in his own league, is his main stock in trade, although he also makes handy use of the spit ball and has a varied assortment of curves. But speed is his asset and it has been proved all through the past season that speed was the thing the Giants take with the greatest relish.

PRAISES PERFECT PARK.

The Sub-Division Beautiul Stirs Divine Afflatus in Local Poet.

Praises of Sunset Park have been told to us in eloquent prose, its beauties have been transferred to immortal canvasses by local artists, and now the crowning achievement of its praises comes in poetic verse. Truly this sub-division must possess virtues of no mean order, if one may judge from the abundance of local artistic talent which finds in this property so fit a subject for their most auspicious efforts.

A local citizen who has been so favorably impressed that he has decided to dispose of his present property, and buy and build a new and better home in the new sub-division, has expressed his reasons for this action in the following poem:

Sunset Park.

Beyond the placid waters
Of Greenfield's lovely lake
There lies as fair a region
As skillful hands can make.

It reaches to the "Dram Tree,"
Made famous long ago,
And many mounds and batt'ries
Its history will show.

Regardless of the prices
It costs to reach the mark,
We'll beautify the landscape
Of lovely Sunset Park.

With granolithic sidewalks,
And streets macadamized,
We'll leave all other places
Neglected and despised.

Each man who has a cottage
That he can call his own
Will be a little Monarch
That no one can dethrone.

Each lot will have its sewers,
To take the filth away,
And water mains to furnish
The folks who come to stay.

The sun will shine in daylight,
Electric lights at dark;
We'll have a fairy city
At lovely Sunset Park.

To each prospective buyer
We'll offer terms to please—
So that every one may purchase
A home with perfect ease.

No painter can portray it—
His brush would be too dark
To give the glowing colors
Of lovely SUNSET PARK.

At the Alpine Resort—"We're back again, count; we've had a splendid day; we've been up the mountain, you know." "Ah, you English mothers, you are always as young as your daughters." "You flatter me, Count, it was only my girls who climbed. I went up in the vernacular."—Punch.

If water were very scarce, we might better give up bathing outside than inside.

AX-GRINDING

A Science With Some Dealers—Done at the Expense of the Public

There is nothing "just as good" as Newbro's Herpicide. Some dealers will even go so far as to tell you they have something better.

That dealer has an axe to grind.

You can't stop his grinding, but you can prevent him grinding it at your expense.

There is one sure, swift way to do it.

Go where you can get what you ask for,

You won't be obliged to do this very often, as fortunately the majority of druggists are honest and conscientious.

Newbro's Herpicide has been so long and favorably known as the original dandruff germ destroyer that no one should be deceived.

When you need a hair remedy, you don't want one which merely promises to kill the dandruff germ and prevent the hair from falling.

You want one that will do it.

Herpicide does it.

The hair becomes soft and lustrous. There is life, snap and beauty where formerly the hair was dead, dull and brittle.

Newbro's Herpicide is sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Applications of this wonderful prophylactic may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Send ten cents in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for a nice sample of Herpicide and a booklet telling all about the hair.

AMERICAN LEAGUE'S PITCHERS

What the Bean Eating Contingent is Having to Say About the World's Series—Marquard and Mathewson.

Boston baseball critics have compiled an interesting set of figures to illustrate the remarkable effectiveness of the Red Sox pitchers this year, upon which they base the confident belief that the coming world's series will be captured by the American League champions. The Boston figures include the game played by the Red Sox in Washington on Saturday.

Smoky Joe Wood, the Hub's star boxman, won 33 games and lost 5, a percentage of .875 for 42 games, having come to the relief of Hall, Bedient, O'Brien, Collins and Cicotte. He gave 80 bases on balls, hit 13 batsmen, struck out 253 and made four wild pitches. He was taken out of two games.

Ray Collins, the crack southpaw, won 14 games and lost five, coming to the rescue of O'Brien, Hall and Pape and being withdrawn eight times. His percentage of victories was .737, with 34 passes, two hit batsmen and 77 strike-outs.

Hall Great Reliever.

Charley Hall, Boston's best relief pitcher, won 17 and lost nine, with two ties. He relieved other boxmen in 12 instances and was taken out of 13 games. His winning percentage was .654 for 34 games, in which he handed out 71 free tickets, hit four and fanned 82.

Hugh Bedient, who is finishing his first year in major league company, won 16 and lost nine, with a percentage of .640 for 35 games, having been used as a relief pitcher 11 times and being taken out of the box in 11 games. He gave 53 passes, hit two men, fanned 114, made a wild pitch and a balk.

Buck O'Brien, the noted spitball artist, won 17 and lost 13, with a percentage of .567 in 35 games. He relieved three and was knocked out nine times. He passed 89, hit ten, fanned 107 and was credited with seven wild pitches.

Giants' Figures.

Corresponding figures setting forth the work of the Giants' leading pitchers are equally interesting and afford material for deep thought among the Hub rooters. Jeff Tesreau, a spitball artist, heads the list with 17 victories and six defeats, having a winning percentage of .739 for 32 games. Tesreau, including the game he pitched on Saturday, gave 95 bases on balls, hit 11 men, fanned 102 and had three wild pitches. He relieved five and was taken out of ten games.

Rube Marquard, who won nineteen straight, has a record of 26 wins and 10 losses, .722 for 40 games, having relieved Tesreau and Ames once each and Wiltse twice, also being taken out of 10 games. He handed out 77 passes, hit two, struck out 163 and made six wild pitches.

Christy Mathewson showed that he wasn't all in by any means by winning 26 and losing 12, also taking part in one tie, a percentage of .684. As a relief pitcher he was called upon in seven games and was supplanted in eight. He gave 33 bases on balls, hit two, struck out 132 and had two wild pitches.

Crandall Looms Strong.

Otis Crandall, the Giants' star rescuer, won 12 and lost six and relieved Marquard three times, Tesreau four, Ames five, Mathewson five and Wiltse six. He was removed from the mound on three occasions. His winning percentage was .667, with 36 bases on balls, three hit batsmen and 68 strike-outs.

Leon Ames relieved nine and was removed from 14 games. He won nine and was beaten in five, a percentage of .643 for 31 games in which he gave 33 passes, hit three men and struck out 74, also having seven wild pitches.

Hooks Wiltse relieved seven and was taken out 14 times, winning eight and losing five, a percentage of .615. Twenty-seven bases on balls were charged against him, one hit batsman and he made 57 carve the air.
